British Default Likely In War Debt Payment Due U. S. on Thursday

Chamberlain to Make Report Today on Decision.

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press.)

London (Tuesday), June 13.—Complete default of Great Britain's war debt payment due to the United States Thursday was authoritatively stated early today by American sources to be probable unless a midnight cabinet session reached a new decision.

The break-up of the cabinet meeting brought no information as to the decision. It was previously announced Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain would report on the debt status in the House of Commons today.

The emergency cabinet session followed hot on the heels of Prime Minister MacDonald's demand at the opening of the world economic conference for the immediate settlement of the war debt question.

10 Per Cent Offered.

It was revealed by a high French official that Great Britain had tentatively offered to pay the United States 10 per cent of the $75,950,000 interest due but that this proposal was rejected by the Washington Government.

Introduction of the debt issue, barred from the agenda of the economic conference, by Prime Minister MacDonald at the opening sitting was resented by members of the American delegation. Some called it "bad taste," while others characterized it in stronger terms.

The prime minister and other members of the cabinet were attending a dinner for conference delegates when their meeting was hastily summoned to consider the latest word from Washington regarding a British offer to make a "token" payment on the debt.

May Default Completely.

As the cabinet met, important American quarters were given clearly to understand that sentiment strongly favored abandoning plans to make any payment whatever, but until the last few hours it had been expected that at least some payment would be made.

The 10 per cent offer turned down by the United States corresponds with the basis of settlement on German

Mussolini Confers On Debt Payment

Rome (Tuesday), June 13 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini discussed the question of paying the debt instalment due the United States Thursday at a midnight session of the Grand Council of Fascism, but their decision was not made public.

A communique issued early today after the adjournment said the decision had been reached and "will be made public at an opportune moment."

The meeting, coinciding with the opening day of the World Economic Conference, was devoted largely to the debt question. The communique said Mussolini made a long talk.

British Debt Proposal Will Be Made Today

Offer Regarding Payment Due United States Thursday to Be Submitted to President Roosevelt Following Lindsay Conversations.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

A British debt proposal will be handed to President Roosevelt today 48 hours in advance of the day of reckoning for the payment of the $79,950,000 due, it was definitely learned here last night. The British cabinet held an emergency meeting last night to make some last-minute rectifications in the offer as a result of the conversations held here between the President and British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay.

The greatest efforts have been made to maintain the secrecy of the British offer. The momentous nature of the debt payment, however, caused it to flare across the world economic conference yesterday in London when Prime Minister MacDonald made reference to it, contrary to the agreement that the debt payment would not be discussed in London.

The President and his closest advisors on this phase of his administration, Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley and Acting Secretary William Phillips, were in frequent discussion on the debt payment yesterday, weighing the offer that had been tentatively made by Sir Ronal on behalf of the British government and drafting the terms of the Ameri-

WATTS IS CONVICTED IN GARRISON'S DEATH

Manslaughter Verdict Found Against Former Maryland Jailer.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 12.—Lee C. Watts, 56, former jailer at Hyattsville, Md., indicted for the murder of Thomas V. Garrison, 35, son of Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas H. Garrison, of Prince Georges County, was found guilty of manslaughter before Judge Nicholas H. Green and a jury in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court today. The jury deliberated 45 minutes.

Judge Green said he would reserve sentence for two or three days, at the behest of attorneys for Watts, pending a possible appeal for a new trial. Watts was defended by Attorney John S. Wilson, of Hyattsville, with George B. Woelfel, as local associate. The prosecution was conducted by State's Attorney Allen Bowie, of Prince Georges County, assisted by State's Attorney A. Theodore Brady, of Anne Arundel.

Watts was indicted by the Prince Georges County grand jury for first degree murder and the trial was removed to the local circuit under change of venue. Claiming premeditation, the prosecution asked for a first degree verdict in their arguments to the jury, while defense counsel pleaded for acquittal on the ground of self-defense.

The slaying of Garrison, which took place on the steps of the Hyattsville Jail last November 8, was the culmination of alleged bad feeling between the two men, because of Watts' alleged attentions to Elva Garrison, 16-year-old niece of the victim.

Some delay was encountered in getting the trial under way because of difficulty in impaneling a jury. The regular panel of talesmen was exhausted because of challenges exercised by State and defense lawyers, and a special panel was necessary before the 12 men were obtained. John Gerstner, farmer, was foreman.

There was some conflict of testimony because of few witnesses to the tragedy. Watts was his own best

2 Planes Make Bogota After Flight From U. S.

Bogota, Colombia, June 12 (A.P.).—J. Scott Bermuth and Ernesto Samper, landed their two planes at Techo Airfield here tonight to complete their flight from St. Louis, Mo.

Bermuth, an American, and Samper, a Colombian, negotiated the fourth and last leg of their trip, from Cartegena to Bogota, in four hours through heavy rainfall. Hundreds were at the airfield to greet the fliers.

Azana Back in Power With Spanish Coalition

Madrid, June 12 (A.P.).—After four days of bitter political struggle, the left Republican-Socialist coalition headed by Premier Manuel Asana returned to power today with the additional support of the Federalist party minority.

Premier Asana named a new finance minister and divided the former ministry of agriculture into two portfolios, agriculture and commerce, as he sought to do last Thursday when he resigned. President Niceto Alcala Zamora had refused to permit the changes without consultation with Republican minorities.

MACON BUCKS WIND ON WAY TO CHICAGO

90 Are Aboard Big Ship Speeding to World Fair; Sighted at Detroit.

Akron, Ohio, June 12 (A.P.).—The giant dirigible Macon bucked against gusty winds from the north tonight, shortly after ascending from her airdock here on an intended 48-hour test flight.

With 90 persons aboard, the big ship sped onward into the night, despite the erratic winds, following a course generally westward. Capt. Alger H. Dresel planned to spend much of the night and part of tomorrow in the vicinity of the lower Great Lakes, and to sail over the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago tomorrow afternoon.

The exact route of the Macon's course was left indefinite at the time of departure and was dependent largely upon weather developments. The ship first approached Cleveland, later was seen over Lorain, Ohio, along the Lake Erie shore.

Among those aboard the Macon besides Capt. Dresel were Commander S. L. Kraus and Lieut W. E. Zimmerman, of the Naval Board of Inspection, both riding as passengers. Several engineers of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, the builders, also were in the ship.

Detroit, June 12 (A.P.).—The dirigible Macon was sighted from the Wayne County Airport tonight at 10:50 o'clock. The ship was traveling west and slightly south, in the general direction of Chicago.

11 Per Cent Wine Bill Is Postponed

(Associated Press.)

Legislation to legalize the manufacture and sale of 11 to 12 per cent wine was put over yesterday until the next session of Congress. The Ways and Means Committee voted 11 to 9 to postpone consideration of the Lea bill until the January regular session.

Chairman Doughton said the reason for the vote was that "we had not heard both sides of the question and thought that we couldn't get the bill through this session anyhow."

The bill, indorsed by Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, Federal prohibition administrator, as something that would increase respect for the eighteenth amendment, would have permitted public sale of naturally fermented wines, which now may be manufactured in homes and taxed the new beverage 20 cents a gallon.

Havana Welcomes Atlantic Aviators

Havana, June 12 (A.P.).—Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, whose 4,500-mile flight from Seville, Spain to Camaguey, Cuba, set a new North Atlantic record yesterday, were greeted in Havana late today by a wildly enthusiastic crowd.

They brought their transatlantic plane Cuatro Vientos down on Columbia Airfield at 5:13 p. m. (Eastern standard time), 2 hours and 53 minutes after taking off from Camaguey on a leisurely flight.

More than 10,000 persons were at the field to cheer them and they were carried off on the shoulders of several to the aviation school building. Spanish Ambassador Luciano Lopez Ferrer was the first to shake hands with his two countrymen.

Eugene Meyer Announced As Washington Post Buyer

Following the signing yesterday, by Justice Proctor, of the District Supreme Court, of an order confirming the sale of The Washington Post, George E. Hamilton, jr., announced that, in bidding for The Washington Post at the public sale on June 1 under the court's decree, he represented Eugene Meyer, until recently Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and that Mr. Meyer is the sole stockholder of The Washington Post Publishing Co., organized a few days ago under the laws of Delaware for the purpose of taking title to the property and continuing the publication of The Post. Mr. Hamilton transferred his bid to this company prior to the signing of the confirmation order.

Mr. Meyer authorized the following statement:

"It will be my aim and purpose steadily to improve The Post and to make it an even better paper than it has been in the past. It will be conducted as an independent paper devoted to the best interests of the people of Washington and vicinity, and hopes to have their interest and support.

"I think I should, in this connection, make it clear that, in purchasing The Post, I acted entirely on my own behalf, without suggestion from or discussion with any person, group or organization."

The Washington Post Publishing Co., Mr. Hamilton stated, has a paid-in capital and surplus of $1,250,000. Mr. Meyer is president of the company, Mrs. Meyer, vice president, and Floyd R. Harrison, secretary-treasurer.

AUSTRIAN NAZI WAR FOLLOWS BOMBINGS

Government Puts Iron Ban on Party and National Siege Is Threatened.

Vienna, Austria, June 12 (U.P.).—A series of bomb outrages which the police blamed on Nazis resulted tonight in a decision by the cabinet, in emergency session, to occupy all Nazi offices throughout Austria.

The decision added that all foreigners affiliated with the Nazi party who are without a bona fide, gainful occupation shall be expelled from the country. The Nazi soldiers' organization in the Austrian army was ordered dissolved.

Police occupied the Nazi headquarters at the so-called Brown House, and all branch offices in Vienna.

The Heimwehr newspaper, opposed to the Nazis, "Oesterreichisches Abendblatt," reported that all Nazi organizations would be forbidden within 24 hours, and that a state of siege would be proclaimed throughout Austria, if necessary, until the Nazi party has been annihilated.

The cabinet's drastic action was reported at once by telephone to Premier Engelbert Dollfuss, at London attending the world economic conference. He indicated that he intended to strengthen and extend his government's dictatorship in the drive to eliminate all Nazi influence in Austria.

The cabinet's decision tonight came following a report by the police that Nazis were responsible for bombings

MATTERN ON LONG SEA HOP TO ALASKA

New York-to-Port au Prince Plane Is Forced Down; Three Fliers Safe.

Moscow (Tuesday), June 13 (A.P.).—Jimmie Mattern took off from Khabarovsk, Siberia, early today toward Nome, Alsaka, one of the most dangerous legs of his lone air journey around the world.

When he started toward American soil it was 8:15 p. m. Moscow time Monday night (12:15 p. m. Eastern standard time Monday). This was 9 days 6 hours and 54 minutes after his departure from New York on the first solo attempt to circle the globe.

The Texas aviator intended, if possible, to hop across two great water stretches—across the Sea of Okhotsk and the Bering Sea—without halting.

He was refreshed by the longest rest he had taken thus far, but if he finds the going rough at first he may change his mind and stop at Petropavlovsk, in the Kamachatka Peninsula.

Latest reports said heavy water and headwinds threatened along his chosen route. Sharp northern winds blew yesterday over the Sea of Okhotsk as far as Petropavlovsk, and rain pelted the area.

Port au Prince, Haiti, June 12 (A. P.).—Capt. J. Errol Boyd and two companions, bound from New York to Port au Prince, made a forced landing near St. Marc, Haiti, tonight. Advices reaching here said all were safe.

10-Day Heat Wave Ended; Lightning Hits Twice Here

Woman Hurled to Floor When House Is Struck; Garage at Soldiers' Home Destroyed; Two Men Prostrated Before Relief Comes.

Washington's ten-day heat wave was routed last night by an electrical storm in which lightning struck two buildings in the District.

Soon after the storm descended on the city, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Odie C. Hargett was struck by lightning. The damage was slight, the bolt shattering windows in the front and side of the house. No. 17 Engine and No. 4 Truck responded to the alarm although no fire resulted.

Mrs. Grace Hargett, seated in the front room of the first floor, was knocked to the floor. She was treated for shock by Dr. Rush W. Conklin and removed to the home of neighbors. Her condition is not serious.

Robert B. Baumgardner, brother of Mrs. Hargett, in the front room of the second story of the house, was uninjured.

Meanwhile lightning had struck and set fire to a garage in the rear of the home of Lee Durvin, chief plumber at the Soldiers' Home, on Harewood road at Scale Gate.

Mr. Durvin was asleep in his home when a passer-by kicked on the front door to inform him the garage was burning down.

Without waiting to put on his shoes Mr. Durvin rushed to rescue his car. He managed to get it half way out of the burning garage and there it stuck. He called to motorists in Harewood road who helped him save his machine. The garage was a total loss. Damage was estimated at $200.

Earlier in the day the heat wave had caused two heat prostrations. They were James Marcey, 68, of

Move to Save Jobs of Efficient U. S. Workers Gains.

$25,000,000 Plan Is Held Certain of Passage.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A plan to save the jobs of competent Federal employes hit by the reorganization program, through a system of transfers from bureaus drastically cut to new agencies and those less severely affected, was announced last night by the Council of Personnel Administration.

Earlier, three separate attempts to block individual phases of the President's $25,000,000 reorganization program were launched on Capitol Hill by Senators McNary, of Oregon; Borah, of Idaho, and Reed, of Pennsylvania (Republicans).

Three joint resolutions to this end were introduced in the Senate. A move to call up at least one of these may be made today, but will encounter the solid opposition of Senate Democratic regulars.

Resolution by McCarran.

The first resolution, by Senator McNary, is aimed at striking from the program the proposed 25 per cent reduction in agricultural extension work, cooperative vocational education and endowment and maintenance of agricultural colleges.

The second, by Senator Borah, would block until after Congress adjourns the proposed 25 per cent cuts in agricultural extension activities.

The third, by Senator Reed, would eliminate the proposed merger of Federal procurement agencies, and prevent the consolidation of the functions of administering public buildings and reservations.

Meanwhile, Senator McCarran (Democrat), Nevada, introduced a resolution calling on heads of the Departments of Commerce, Agriculture and Interior to furnish the Senate data on cuts ordered in scientific personnel and expenditures of the three agencies. The resolution was unanimously adopted by the Senate.

Senator McCarran said he has information demonstrating conclusively that scientific activities of some of the departments would be so badly crippled as to render them useless. He will ask appropriation of additional funds for their use when the fourth deficiency bill is called up in the Senate.

View of Saving Jobs.

The plan announced yesterday by the Council of Personnel Administration "has in view the saving of jobs for competent present employes, wherever practicable," according to a statement issued by the Civil Service Commission.

"It serves the Government by keeping qualified persons in its service," the statement added.

President Harry B Mitchell, of the Civil Service Commission, who also heads the Council of Personnel Administration, said that even under present conditions the commission is

Balbo Takes Command Of Planes Going to U. S.

Orbetello, Italy, June 12 (A.P.).—Gen. Italo Balbo, aviation minister, took active command today of the Italian transatlantic squadron which is to take off on a flight by easy stages to the Chicago fair Wednesday at 7 a. m.

Man Dies, 4 Hurt In Huckster Crash

One man was killed and four others were seriously injured late last night when two large huckster trucks en route to Baltimore were wrecked on the Lee Highway at Legato, Va.

J. E. Price, 23, of Culpeper, Va., was dead when extricated from beneath his truck which had been telescoped and overturned. Members of the Fairfax Fire Department, which removed the victims from the wreckage, said Price was evidently strangled to death in oil from the motor which spilled in his face. John Coleman, 21, colored, of Culpeper, who was in the truck with Price, suffered a fractured pelvis and severe bruises.

The men in the other truck, from Winfall, Va., were Herman Brown, who suffered deep cuts and bruises to his face and head; Major Jordon, colored, a broken left leg and cuts to his face, and Daniel Elliott, a broken right leg and bruised and lacerated face. They were taken to the Alexandria General Hospital on a Fairfax fire truck. Coleman was removed to Georgetown Hospital.

Roosevelt Will Spend 24 Hours in Canada

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt will be about a quarter mile over the Canadian border for a day and a night when he stops at his mother's home at Campobello Island at the end of his Atlantic cruise, but he will be setting no precedent in this.

President Harding stopped in Canada to speak at Vancouver during his Alaskan trip. President Wilson went to Europe for the World War Peace Conference. In both instances the Presidents retained their full power of office.

NEW FIGHT PUSHED FOR SIROVICH PLAN

Federal Employes Will Go to Capitol Today in Behalf of Civil Service Aid.

A fresh effort to save the Sirovich plan for a Federal liaison officer and a Civil Service Board of Appeal, thrown out of the national recovery bill conference report, will be made on Capitol Hill today.

At the same time, a delegation of Federal employes, headed by Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the League for the American Civil Service, will go to the Capitol to canvass senators in support of the plan.

Decision to move for consideration of the plan as an amendment to one of the measures remaining or enacted, or again as part of the recovery act in case it is sent back to conference, followed criticism of conferees in the Senate yesterday for eliminating the Sirovich proposal from the conference agreement.

Senators Long, of Louisiana; Wheeler, Montana (Democrats), and Nye (Republican) condemned the action of the Senate conferees in backing down on the plan for settling employes' grievances through liaison efforts.

Senator Nye quoted from the Congressional Record of Saturday, when the recovery conference report was adopted by the House, in asserting that House conferees had been willing to accept the plan, but Senate conferees insisted on its rejection.

Conferees on the independent offices bill in completing their sessions last night, reaffirmed Saturday's action, eliminating the so-called State apportionment clause and the 30-year Federal retirement plan from the supply measure. These changes will be reported to House and Senate today.

Millionth Fair Visitor Is Honored by Chicago

Chicago, June 12 (A.P.).—When Miss Eleanor Frost, 22, of Syracuse, N. Y., entered the Cenutry of Progress Exposition today 999,999 persons had preceded her through the turnstiles.

Landlady's Slayer Pays Penalty in Electric Chair

Trenton, N. J., June 12 (A.P.).—Louis Pine, 30, formerly a wealthy Atlantic City real estate dealer, died in the electric chair tonight for the slaying of his landlady, Mrs. Mattie Schaaf.

Pine killed the woman when surprised in the act of robbing her, and shipped her body to Philadelphia in a trunk.

Can't Read

Or Write, but Scranton Man Heads School Board 17 Years.

Scranton, Pa., June 12 (A.P.).—Michael Wolohowicz, who has served as director of the Dickson City school board for seventeen years and who has filled the office of board treasurer for a long time, testified in court today that he can not read nor write and that he never went to school a day in his life.

As treasurer of the board he receives a salary of $4,000 annually.

Wolohowicz was testifying in the action begun by taxpayers to oust six of the seven members of the Dickson City board. He said he could not read a word of the school code, which he and other directors are charged with violating.

President Stands Firm for House Compromise Plan.

Senate Substitute May Cause New Taxes, Douglas Says.

(Associated Press).

A prolonged row over veterans' relief threatened a tie-up of the extra session of Congress last night, as deadlocked Senate and House Democratic conferees found President Roosevelt firm for the compromise adopted by the House.

As leaders left the White House shortly before midnight, Director of the Budget Douglas, who sat in on the parley, told newspapermen emphatically that if the substitute put forward in the Senate yesterday were adopted it would cost an additional $100,000,000.

Asked if this would require the imposition of new taxes, Douglas replied:

"I should think so."

President's Threat.

Although the conferees were silent, there were indications in apparently reliable quarters that the President would stand by his threat to hold Congress in session and call for new taxes if the veterans' compensations were liberalized too much.

Senator Byrnes (Democrat) South Carolina, leader of the senatorial group, announced after the White House parley that he would report the conferees' disagreement today to the Senate, which has been insisting upon veterans' allowances above those contained in the House-administration compromise.

Unable themselves to work out an agreement at a legislative conference earlier in the evening, the Democratic conferees took their troubles to the White House within a few minutes after the Capitol Hill parley ended.

Balanced Budget in Peril.

Douglas told the conferees that the substitute proposed in the Senate by Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, and Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, more liberal than either the House plan or the original Senate provision, would throw plans for a balanced budget out of line unless new taxes were put on.

Back to Capitol Hill to fight it out went the conferees. There appeared not a shadow of a doubt that Mr. Roosevelt stood firm by the House group that had approved his compromise instead of the previous Senate increase in veterans' allowances, to so-called Connally amendment.

With other difficulties beginning to lighten before the softening touch of conciliation, both the Senate and House recessed last night with high hopes of completing their work so as to bring a sine die adjournment of the extra session today.

As the two recessed until today, the

English Cabinet Meets in Night Session to Study Payment Issue.

reparations payments arranged by the Lausanne conference last July. In Mr. MacDonald's speech before the conference he asserted the Lausanne settlement must be "completed."

American quarters anxiously awaited the final announcement of the debt decision today by Mr. Chamberlain, fearful that outright default might prove an embittering influence, hampering the progress of the world conclave.

It was presumed the cabinet went immediately to work at their midnight session on the terms of a note to be dispatched to Washington.

Meanwhile another disturbing element was tossed into the conference arena late today by Premier Daladier of France who warned his colleagues of other countries that the Paris government would agree to nothing until the dollar and the pound had been stabilized, at least in a de facto fashion.

The French premier, insisting on the paramount importance of fixing the relative values of the chief currencies, questioned the practicability of extending the tariff truce for the duration of the conference.

Daladier Asks Stabilization.

"France can not accept a tariff truce until America and England decide to stabilize," Mr. Daladier said tonight in commenting on the position he took in the conference bureau late today.

"We must have a yardstick to measure with," he said. "It is useless to go on here until the British and the Americans take the first step."

The tariff truce initiated by President Roosevelt terminated upon the opening of the economic conference today.

M. Daladier said that the bureau agreed to discuss his proposal at the earliest opportunity.

Debt Demand Made.

In opening the conference today Mr. MacDonald, the chairman, declared that world prosperity could not be restored until the question of war debts was settled.

This statement provoked some consternation in American quarters in view of the reiterations from the White House and by the chief of the United States delegation, Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, and his colleagues that debts would be taboo at the conference.

Mr. MacDonald acknowledged that debts could not be considered at the conference, but he declared that this question must receive prompt attention by the nations concerned and be settled "once and for all," to complete the work of the Lausanne reparations parley last summer.

Momentary Plans Drafted.

Delegates regarded this pronouncement as a demand for dealing with debts concurrently with the work of the conference.

Meanwhile financial experts and central banking officials of the United States, Great Britain and France labored in secret session at the British treasury on plans for currency stabilization, which the French delegation especially insists must be accomplished to some degree before other achievements are possible.

The Americans, however, assert that no fixing of the level of the dollar will be permitted which might react unfavorably upon the internal program in the United States for lifting prices.

King George Opens Parley.

It was announced tonight that Premier Daladier of France would follow Mr. Hull in addressing the delegates, and this was interpreted as a clear indication that the conference will get down to brass tacks at once, in view of the French opposition to the American stand on monetary problems.

The opening of the conclave by King George was unceremonious, in keeping with the spirit of a frank business parley. The monarch nevertheless made a dramatic plea for cooperation to abate human suffering and concluded by saying solemnly:

"I pray that the results of your labors will set the world once more on the path of prosperity and ordered progress."

London (Tuesday), June 13 (U.P.).—A long message concerning the British war debts installment, which falls due Thursday, was received by the foreign office from the United States Government early today, it was learned.

The message was decoded quickly and sent by special messengers to members of the cabinet, who held an indecisive conference on the debts shortly before last midnight, so that they might be fully acquainted with President Roosevelt's latest views when the cabinet and the House of Commons discuss whether to pay or default later today.

Hull Pleads for Speed At London Conference

(Associated Press.)

The State Department last night made public a brief address by Secretary Hull at a dinner in London at which he asked "that the business of the London conference be dispatched with the speed that the tragic plight of the world demands."

The Secretary of State was quoted as responding on behalf of visiting delegations to a welcoming address by Premier MacDonald, expressing praise of the political and cultural leadership of Great Britain, and adding:

"The nations of the world have met here to take common counsel relative to the common objective of peace and prosperity. In this modern age the economic interests of all countries are reciprocal.

"Under these conditions, countries are disposed to go forward or backward together in every economic sense. The tendency is that regardless of any differing ideals and aspirations for the most part they share prosperity and panic together. The ties of commerce unite nations second only to the ties of race.

"In my judgment the most lasting world accord depends chiefly upon the sort of economic policies the nations maintain. International commerce is the real peacemaker of the world.

"Great Britain has demonstrated also that there is no more useful nor productive source of national wealth than a prosperous commerce. The chief purpose of commerce is to multiply human comforts and to diminish human burdens.

"Greatly to restrict or abolish commerce between nations, therefore, is almost as insane as to abolish the steam engine or the cotton gin or similar invaluable agencies of human comfort."

500 R. F. C. HIGHWAY WORKERS WALK OUT

Protest Wage Cut and Delay of Pay Roll; Communists Blamed for Strike.

Memphis, Tenn., June 12 (U.P.).—More than 500 R. F. C. highway workers on two Shelby County relief projects struck today in protest against a wage cut and delay in arrival of their checks.

Sheriff W. J. Bacon and police blamed alleged Communists for the "rebellion." Police claimed they had rounded up several men for questioning. Circulars headed "United to Smash Hunger" had been distributed.

Assured by Commissioner E. W. Hale that State Highway Commissioner Frank Webster, of Nashville, would leave by airplane for Washington to seek more funds, delegates of the strikers agreed to call off the strike and return to work.

Some claimed they had not eaten since Friday as the result of failure to receive their checks on time.

A committee of the strikers conferred with Hale, who told them a $14,000 pay roll check was unavoidably delayed and that the reduction in pay from $1.25 to $1 per day was due to curtailed funds.

The strikers demanded an eight-hour day and $2 a day pay; free transportation to and from jobs, and pay on rainy days.

Dry Raid Ties Up Traffic Downtown

In a spectacular raid on the second floor at 1141 Connecticut avenue, above a leather goods shop, police late yesterday seized a quantity of alleged liquor and gambling paraphernalia, and arrested two men.

Ulysses Giovannini, 50, 1818 M street northwest, who gave his occupation as a waiter, was charged with sale and possession of liquor, and permitting gaming and Robert Williams, a colored porter, was charged with illegal possession.

The raid was made during the rush hour, and traffic was tied up on upper Connecticut avenue for several minutes. The raiding officers were G. C. Deyoe, J. E. Beckett and William McEwen.

Long Announces Weekly Paper Plan

Plans to publish within the month a weekly newspaper, dealing with Government news, were announced yesterday by Senator Huey P. Long (Democrat), Louisiana.

Senator Long said the paper probably will be published in Philadelphia. He said it will have a definite editorial policy, but will accept no advertising material of any nature.

Policies of the publication will center around Senator Long's own theories favoring redistribution of wealth, storage of surplus crops to better the price and development of the Nation's natural power resources. He said he will oppose entangling alliances with any nation.

P. U. C. Reopens Gas Quiz July 10

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday set July 10 as the reopening date of the Washington Gas Light Co. valuation hearing after Wilton J. Lambert, gas company counsel, had asked for a postponement from the former indefinite schedule to between June 20 and July 1.

Accountants and engineers representing the commission and the gas company have engaged in conferences for the last several months comparing factual data so that the only controversy anticipated at the hearing is on intangible values.

The commission decided to postpone any action regarding the rental investigation authorized by the Senate until an appropriation for the work is made by Congress.

Addresses will also be heard from the president of the alumni organization, Clarence E. Martin, and Arthur Bergman, director of athletics. Entertainment will be provided by alumni and refreshments will be served. The feature will be motion pictures of campus activities during the last two years.

MUSEUM IS SCENE OF WORLD PARLEY

London Economic Delegates Gather in Newly Built Geological Hall.

London, June 12 (A.P.).—The recently built white stone geological museum in Kensington is the scene of the world economic conference.

The 168 accredited delegates and a few hundred other persons permitted in the assembly hall of the museum had the smell of fresh paint in their nostrils at today's opening session. Preparations for the session were completed only last night.

Those able to find seats were crowded together in straight chairs behind green desks. Many persons had to stand. Of nearly a score of American delegates and experts, only half a dozen could be seated.

The Americans were placed in the sixth row, on the left side of the hall. Under the seating order, alphabetically, according to French translation, the United States—Etats Unis—was between Estonia and Ethiopia.

The Americans sat in armchairs at a long bench-like desk. The scene was reminiscent of a schoolroom. There was a sprinkling of women, including Mrs. Cordell Hull, the only American woman honored by admission.

A sign, "Do Not Smoke"—in both French and English—was plastered on every desk. American Delegate Ralph W. Morrison, smoking a big cigar, apparently did not see them. Two other American delegates, Senator Key Pittman, who was ill, and Senator James Couzens, who had not arrived, were absent today.

Shoemaker Urges New Virginia Party

Representative F. H. Shoemaker, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota, last night urged the formation of a third party in Virginia of farmers and laboring men at a meeting held at the home of L. B. Morris, in Fairfax County. He attacked the social and financial situation today and stated that there was no difference in the two major political parties.

"Both are controlled by the money interests in the hands of a few bankers," he declared. He urged the farmers to organize to make themselves heard and elect representatives that are familiar with their interests. He said that the machine age in industry has caused the present unemployment and it was time that the common people control the machine and receive the benefits from it.

Michael Thomas, commander of the right wing of the bonus army, also spoke, urging the farmers and bonus men from all walks of life to unite to make their wants known to Congress. Other speakers included Capt. Albert Wood and Charles F. Hollopeter, of the "right wing."

witness. Basing the shooting on self-defense, the accused asserted Garrison attempted to choke him in course of an argument.

Police Sergt. Ralph Brown, of Prince Georges County, was the State's star witness, as he was the only person, other than the principals, close to the actual shooting. Brown told the jury he was in conversation with Garrison at 11:30 on the night of November 7, and that the latter complained of Watts' attention to his niece, and that he intended to reprimand him for it. He said Garrison had been drinking, but was not drunk, and he urged him to go home, which he did.

Several hours later, however, Garrison returned, the officer said, and called Watts from the jail. An argument between Garrison and Watts ensued, during which Brown said Watts struck Garrison several times with a revolver. In the melee, he said, Watts fired a shot that passed between him (Brown) and Garrison and a second shot struck Garrison in the right side. Garrison died while being conveyed to a Washington hospital.

Other witnesses examined included Dr. Hilary T. Williams, Mayor of Hyattsville, who was visiting the jail and heard the argument between Garrison and Watts that preceded the shooting; Nathaniel Christian and Joseph Harrison, prisoners in the lockup, who also heard the shooting, and Robert W. McCullough, town counsel at Cheverly, who visited the jail about the time the shooting took place. A number of business men of Hyattsville were examined as character witnesses.

Barcelona, Spain, June 12 (A.P.).—Two persons were killed and several injured today in a clash between civil guards and striking construction workers in University Plaza.

POLICE SAY YOUTH ADMITS MATRICIDE

Chum of Ohioan Likely to Be Returned to Nashville in Extortion Attempt.

Flint, Mich., June 12 (A.P.).—Seventeen-year-old Balfe MacDonald, a "problem youth" who fought against parental control, confessed, county authorities said today, that he beat his mother, Mrs. Grace Baird MacDonald, 54, to death in her bedroom on May 27, during a quarrel in which she threatened to have him placed in a reformatory.

The confession was made within a few hours after MacDonald, with his companion in flight, William Terwilliger, 16, were returned here from Nashville, Tenn., where they had been arrested on charges of attempted extortion.

"I hit her three or four times," the youth said, explaining that he had used the heavier of two book ends in his mother's room.

"She looked at me and her arms were up," he went on. "She said, 'You can't do this to me.' She didn't say anything more and just tossed over and over in bed and said 'Balfe!'"

MacDonald was arraigned before Justice Frank W. Cain this afternoon on a first-degree murder warrant and examination was demanded. It was set for June 16, and MacDonald was taken to the county jail. He showed no emotion as he was brought into a crowded courtroom.

Terwilliger, against whom no formal charges have been made, is held as a material witness. Local authorities said he probably would be returned to Nashville to answer the attempted extortion charges there.

MacDonald, in his statement to the prosecutor and chief of detectives, said he did not know when he left his home early in the morning of May 27 that he had fatally beaten his mother. Asked why he had fled, he replied:

"I knew I had hit her."

Harlan's Risk Bill Indorsed by Davis

The Harlan bill for the regulation of employe compensation insurance in the District was indorsed by Herbert L. Davis, District superintendent of insurance, in a radio talk made last night under the auspices of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

"There is nothing to stop insurance companies from raising rates in the District sufficiently high so that the large profits would help offset losses in other jurisdictions," he declared.

"This situation is unfair to the District and was one of the impelling motives which caused the District Department of Insurance, through the Commissioners, to request relief through Congressional action."

Street Blast Basis Of Suit for $50,000

Traffic Policeman Ernest Lucas, 631 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, yesterday in District Supreme Court brought suit against the Washington Gas Light Co., the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Potomac Electric Power Co. for injuries he received when, while he was directing traffic at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, a manhole cover on which he was standing blew up.

Lucas asks for $50,000 for his injuries. He declared, through Attorneys E. Russel Kelly, Joseph D. Kelly and Miss Nita Lenman, that complaint had previously been made about gas leaking in the conduit that was covered by the manhole. It was on November 10, 1932, he said, that the explosion occurred.

He was thrown upon the running board of a passing automobile and his injuries, he declared, are such that he can not return to active duty in the Police Department.

Holland Released On Bond of $5,000

With United States Attorney Leo A. Rover convinced that Elmer W. Holland, 24-year-old special policeman, did not intend to perpetrate any violence when he drew a pistol and accidentally shot to death Lelia Morrison in the Franklin Park Hotel Thursday, the man was freed under $5,000 bond yesterday.

Although Mr. Rover has not fully completed his study of the case, he said that he had learned enough to satisfy him that Holland had no intention of harming any one. He indicated that Holland would in all probability face a simple manslaughter charge.

Holland is said to have drawn his gun on a colored bellboy in the hotel. Somehow the weapon was discharged and the bullet tore through a door, struck Miss Morrison over the ear and then buried itself in her chest, causing almost instantaneous death. At that time Holland was unaware of the tragedy and when he learned of the shooting several hours later he surrendered to police.

They expected to set down their ship, the Columbia, veteran transatlantic craft, at Port au Prince after about 24 hours flying over the 2,471-mile route, rest two days, and fly back to New York.

Word was telephoned from St. Marc tonight that the plane was forced down in mud flats. It was reported undamaged, but the fliers were unable to get it out of the mud alone.

A Marine Corps plane will fly to their aid and Capt. Boyd and his companions are expected to be able to fly here tomorrow forenoon for an official reception.

A cosmopolitan crowd of several hundred, including social leaders, diplomats and officials were gathered at the Pan American Aviation Field anxiously awaiting arrival of the Boyd party this afternoon.

At 6 p. m. darkness and a heavy tropical rain drove home the disappointed spectators, leaving only a small group of anxious officials. The news from St. Marc reached here an hour later.

COLLINGS SUSPECT PARTLY IDENTIFIED

Widow of Man Murdered on Yacht Says Prisoner Resembles Slayer.

Stamford, Conn., June 12 (A.P.).—A burglar suspect was partly identified today by Mrs. Benjamin P. Collings, of Stamford, as one of two men who in 1931 boarded the Collings yacht in Long Island Sound and beat her husband to death.

At the time of the assault Mrs. Collings said two men boarded the ship, bound and killed her husband, tossed his body overboard and then abducted her, leaving behind on the drifting yacht their 5-year-old daughter, Barbara. Mrs. Collings later was placed ashore and notified police.

"I've looked at a score of men arrested in various parts of the country since 1931," said Mrs. Collings today as she confronted Frank Dreger, 61 years old, "and this is the only one who resembled in the least the old man who came on our boat."

The suspect, Dreger, who gave New York as his address, was moved to the Bridgeport jail late today after a bench warrant charging burglary was issued in Fairfield County Superior Court naming him and Joseph Guarino, 20, of New York, arrested with him in Darien Sunday.

Meanwhile, District Attorney Barron Hill, of Suffolk County, Long Island, who two years ago worked on the Collings case, conferred with the Connecticut authorities on Mrs. Collings' statement that Dreger's profile looked "just like that of the old man who boarded our yacht."

While Guarino also was paraded before her in Stamford's police station, Mrs. Collings said he was too stout to fit the description of the young man who figured in the Long Island crime.

Smith Denounces Pension Reduction

Goochland Courthouse, Va., June 12 (A.P.).—W. Worth Smith, candidate for governor, in a campaign speech here today denounced the Virginia "political organization machine" for cutting Confederate veteran pensions.

"I know as well as any other politician, including statesmen, that the voting power of the old soldier is a thing of the past," Senator Smith said, "but the cause for which he fought will live forever, and I resent the action of the State machine in cutting old soldiers pensions."

BERRY CLARK'S FATE IS IN HANDS OF JURY

Three Defense Lawyers in Plea to Keep Former Official Free.

The fate of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners, on trial for alleged embezzlement of county funds, last night for the third time within a year was in the hands of a jury in Montgomery County's Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard, at 10:45, ordered the jury locked up after finding it deadlocked. The judges then left for their homes in Frederick, Md. It is expected that they will return to Rockville this afternoon unless the jury reaches an agreement earlier.

In case of an earlier agreement the judges will be notified by telephone and will return to the courthouse to receive the verdict.

Trial Attendance Small.

Yesterday was Berry Clarks' fifty-eighth birthday, but the jury failed to agree in time to give him a birthday present, good or ill.

The attendance at the trial was far below that of the two previous ones.

States Attorney Stedman Prescott completed his final argument at 5:40 p. m. and the jury retired two minutes later to the petit jury room to consider the evidence which has been presented to them in the seven days of the trial.

Defense Attorneys Albert M. Bouic, F. Barnard Welsh and E. Barrett Prettyman pleaded with the jury not to send "this broken man" to jail and break the heart of his invalid wife, whom they described as a "frail, broken weed." State's Attorney Prescott told the jury that there is a higher tribunal than man-made courts and that each one would have to answer at the bar of his conscience if he failed in his duty.

Prescott said that he realized several of them were close friends of Berry E. Clark, but that they had taken an oath to render their verdict on the evidence presented to them and warned them not to be swayed by any other consideration.

Defense Attorney Thomas L. Dawson, who has been prevented from taking part in the trial heretofore by illness, was in court, but did not take part in the argument save by advice to his confreres.

Bank Accounts Portrayed.

The arguments by the State's Attorney and the defense counsel began at 9:30 a. m. Two large charts showing in detail the deposits and withdrawals in the two bank accounts of Clark, his "Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners" account and his personal account were used by Prescott in pointing out alleged transfer of funds from the clerk's account to the personal account.

Clark maintained his debonair air throughout the arguments and smilingly told reporters that he expected an acquittal. He chatted freely with friends and courthouse attaches.

The charge of embezzling $426 in county money on which he is being tried for the third time was the first of 97 indictments alleging embezzlement of approximately $50,000. He was dismissed from office March 26, 1932, following discovery of the alleged shortage in his accounts by an audit.

The juries disagreed in both of the first trials.

BRITISH TO SUBMIT OFFER TODAY REGARDING WAR DEBT

can reply to be dispatched in the same unofficial manner.

The fate of the other debt payments that will make up the $144,000,000 total due on Thursday is still very much in doubt. Most of the countries that are planning to pay at all are waiting on the decision of Great Britain, while other countries like France, who have no intention of making any payment, are ignoring the approach of the fifteenth. To them it will be just another day and they will allow themselves to be marked as a defaulter with the same indifference as they did the last defaulted, or "deferred" payment of December 15.

However, the Italian increment will undoubtedly be sent here in response to the perfunctory notices forwarded by the Treasury Department last week. The final decision, however, will be made by Premier Mussolini and will form the basis of the Italian debt payment. A tentative offer of 10 cents on the dollar in temporary settlement of the June 15 payment has been spoken of as the likeliest figure which either Great Britain or Italy and the countries subject to their influence or suggestion would be able to meet. Whether this could be received constitutionally by the President even with the addition of due reservations is a matter that had not been thoroughly decided to the satisfaction of the President last night.

Congress Source of Dissent.

As long as Congress remains in session as a potential source of dissent and opposition to any debt settlement, the deviation by any degree from the agreed principle of unequivocal debt payment would undoubtedly afford Congress the opportunity of criticising and perhaps jettisoning any debt understanding.

A downright default by all the countries at this moment would undoubtedly work to greater harm economically than even the acceptance of the tentative debt offer. Such an acceptance, it is felt here, would preserve at all events the framework of the debt settlement and future arrangements could be worked into them without impairing the legality or validity of the debt contract itself.

It is felt in authoritative sources that here has never been a full and frank acceptance of the President's offer to consider proposals for debt revisions by any of the countries to whom the offer was originally advanced. These proposals have been confined in the majority of instances to an international "swapping" basis, which was wholly outside of the thought of the President or the dignity of the subject.

Day of Reckoning Near.

The visits of Prime Minister MacDonald, and of former Premier Herriot, as well as the Warm Springs flight of British Ambassador Lindsay to consult with the President even in advance of the MacDonald visit, were all in the nature of diplomatic nibbles. As a result the day of reckoning is almost here and the debt situation is approximately where it was last December, with, however, the addition of subsequent misunderstandings and reiterated friction.

The continued fall of the dollar on the international exchange affords the countries that are going to pay, the discount of some 15 or 20 per cent, according as the American currency is off the gold par. Negotiation is now active in London with the view of halting the move of the dollar. A temporary or de facto stabilization of currencies for the duration of the conference, is the object of the discussion of British, French and American experts.

Cooley is reported to have suffered a possible fracture of the skull and rupture of a lung.

The man was found critically injured in the rooming house of Mrs. Nash, and where he lives, by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, which was called to give first aid. Williams is an employe of Mrs. Nash.

Police were told that Cooley started making trouble at the house and was hurt in the ensuing affray.

MITCHELL ADVISED FUNDS NOT INCOME

Directors' Counsel Testifies He Regarded $666,666 as Tax-Exempt.

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—Testifying for the defense today in the trial of Charles E. Mitchell on charges of income tax evasion, Garrard B. Winston, counsel to directors of the National City Co., said he advised the officers that the payment of $1,800,000 to them could not be regarded as "personal income."

Mitchell's failure to report in 1929 receipt of $666,666.67, his share of the money distributed from the company's management fund, is the basis for one of the charges of tax evasion for which he has been on trial for more than a month. The National City Co. is an affiliate of the National City Bank, of which Mitchell was chairman of the board.

Held Not Income.

"In the late autumn of 1929," Winston told the Federal court jury, "I advised officers of the National City Co. that I regarded payments from the management fund that year as not proper deductions from the company on its income tax report, and that therefore it of course followed that the payments could not be regarded as personal income by them."

He said he conferred with Harry W. Forbes, lawyer and tax expert, who also advised Mitchell on his returns, before concluding the bank chairman was not required to declare his share of the fund as income.

Receipts Called "Notes."

Winston, a former Undersecretary of the Treasury, was questioned by Max D. Steuer, Mitchell's counsel. He said that as a member of the board of the National City Co. and as its counsel he wrote the resolutions that formed the management fund and governed its distribution.

The receipts signed by the officers were described by Winston as "notes." They acknowledged their obligation to pay the money back out of future profits of the fund.

Jury in McMath Kidnaping Visits Locations in Crime

Bus Carrying 12 Who Will Decide Fate of Kenneth and Cyril Buck Slides Into Sandy Ditch Without Casualties.

Barnstable, Mass., June 12 (A.P.).—Twelve men were selected today to decide whether Kenneth and Cyril Buck, Harwichport brothers, kidnaped Margaret ("Peggy") McMath, 10, with intent to extort money.

The day's action began in the 100-year-old Barnstable Courthouse and almost came to a sudden end on a lonely country road where the bus carrying the jurors over the scene of the crime slid into a sandy ditch.

For an hour and one-quarter the jurymen sat in the shade of pine trees and waited until the bus had been hauled out.

It took about 45 minutes to select the jury. As completed the jury was made up of two farmers, two carpenters, a motor mechanic, a fisherman, a mason, an automobile dealer, plumber, a painter, a barber and a poultry raiser.

The Bucks were charged with kidnaping "Peggy" on May 2, returning her to her father, Neil C. McMath, a former Detroit business man who now is a boat builder in Harwichport, on May 5, after he had paid them $60,000. They were arrested on May 6 and since that time have been held in $100,000 bonds each.

After their selection the jurors had luncheon and then started their bus ride to the scene of the crime. The places visited and their significance, based on statements made by Daniel R. Needham, State commissioner of public safety, at the time of the arrests were:

Cyril Buck's garage in West Harwich. A back road where Kenneth blacked his face with cork to make himself appear to be a Negro. South Chatham Postoffice where Kenneth telephoned "Peggy's" school, representing himself to be McMath and saying he was sending an automobile for the child. Harwich Center Grammar School, from which the child was taken. A road in Harwich where Peggy was taken and tied up and then placed back in an automobile. A cranberry shack where the child was confined from 2:30 p. m. May 2, until midnight. The house of Cyril Buck, two mattresses, one old and one new, were inspected at the request of the defense. The home of Kenneth Buck where the $60,000 was recovered. A vacant house near the homes of the Bucks where Peggy was confined and where a mattress was provided for her. Ice house where Kenneth changed his clothes when he was returning Peggy to her father. The McMath home and the harbor where Peggy was kept aboard a boat until the police came.

Peggy was in the McMath yard playing when the jurymen arrived, but she scampered into the house.

District Attorney William C. Crossley said he would make his opening statement as soon as court opens tomorrow at 10 a. m.

PROSECUTION HINTED IN FAIR PLANE CRASH

Criminal Negligence Charge May Result From Evidence Ship Needed Repairs.

Chicago, June 12 (A.P.).—Evidence that authorities said might lead to prosecution on charges of criminal negligence was reported today in inquiries into the crash of a World's Fair sightseeing plane that killed seven men and two women.

Assistant State's Attorney Don M. Long told a coroner's inquest in the City Hall of suburban Glenview, near where the huge amphibian plane crashed and burst into flames, he had information the ship was not in proper condition when it took off yesterday from Lake Michigan at the exposition grounds.

"I have a report that the pilot, Carl Vickery, had trouble in getting the plane off the water," Long said, "and that he immediately headed the plane toward the home landing field, Pal-Waukee Airport, knowing it was in need of repairs.

Two Bodies Unidentified.

"If this is true, it will be action for criminal negligence in carrying passengers."

The coroner's jury of six men, four of them commercial pilots with wartime experience, also heard testimony that Vickery had been on duty 12 and 14 hours a day, taking sightseers aloft.

Of that time, however, he would be in the air only three or four hours.

Two of the bodies, charred by flames that destroyed the plane, were unidentified tonight, leading to criticism of the flying company by Deputy Coroner Stephan Kolonowski, in charge of investigating air accidents for Cook County.

Lack of Records Criticized.

"Every aviation company," he declared, "should obtain the names and addresses of all passengers taken in the air. There should be strict laws covering that point, and they should be enforced strictly."

In addition to Vickery the identified dead were Harrington E. Jacobs, of Wheeling, Ill., mechanic; Edward Fay, 30, of Chicago; Stephanie Ogorek, 20, of Chicago; Edward G. Schaller, 22, of Storm Lake, Iowa; Joseph G. Robinson, 21, of New York and Mrs. Ida Goodwin, 47, of Hewlitt, Long Island, New York.

Fay and Miss Ogorek had been reconciled at the World's Fair yesterday after a quarrel. Their bodies were cremated clasped in each other's arms, as they were found in the cabin of the plane.

Grave Fall

Woman Asks $20,000 for Alleged Injuries in Cemetery Mishap.

Because she fell into a grave at the Cedar Hill Cemetery, Mrs. Susie M. Ball, 1620 Good Hope road southeast, yesterday instituted suit against the cemetery owner for $20,000. Her husband, John Lewis Ball, filed a suit also, his being based on the loss of his wife's services. He asked for $5,000.

Through Attorneys Austin F. Canfield and Nita S. Hinman, Mrs. Ball said that she went to the cemetery October 16, 1932, to visit a grave. She declared that she slipped on some mud that had been allowed to remain on the sidewalk and before she could arrest her momentum she had fallen into a recently excavated grave.

The grave, she said, was covered only by a piece of canvas with two stones holding it down. When she fell, the petition said, the stone fell in on top of her. The charge was advanced that the excavation was not sufficiently protected by railings or otherwise.

CONGRESS HARMONY GAINING ON 3 BILLS

Senate had agreed to vote at 4 p. m. today on the conference report on the industrial bill.

Remaining to be disposed of were the Glass-Steagall bill making permanent changes in the Nation's banking laws and the $3,000,000,000 supply bill to furnish funds for starting the administration's economic revival program into action.

Communicate With President.

The House quit first yesterday, after it arranged to take up today the conference report on the Glass-Steagall bill and then quit for the day, thus forestalling the possibility of any sine die adjournment last night.

Then the veterans issues—bound up in the independent offices appropriation bill—was lifted from the Senate floor by the agreement of Senators Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, and Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, to let the conferees take up the issue first with the understanding that they would come back to the Senate for instructions before accepting the compromise worked out by President Roosevelt and House Democrats.

The way was cleared for the Glass-Steagall bill by an agreement reached by perspiring conferees late yesterday after 4 hours in a hot hearing room during which they called the President upon telephone to seek his views.

Another Agreement Reached.

This measure was one which advocates were beginning to fear was lost for this session and threats had arisen in the House to hold up adjournment until it was enacted.

Another agreement reached in the Senate before it quit for the day, heightened chances for adjournment of the extra session today.

It resulted in a decision that immediately after the industrial bill conference report, the $3,000,000,000 supply bill would be taken up. If the conference report on the independent offices appropriation bill should be ready before the $3,000,000,000 bill is disposed of, however, that bill would be laid aside for the conference report.

Filibuster Threat Remains.

Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, prevented consideration of the supply bill Saturday night with the assertion that he wanted to see how the industrial and veterans disputes were settled before he would agree to vote on the appropriations.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, was delighted with the agreement reached and predicted a smoothing out of remaining differences unless a filibuster developed.

"It is believed," he said after the Senate quit for the day, "that one or two senators are wishing to keep Congress in session as a means of giving publicity to their views during the course of the economic conference, and this with particular reference to the debt problem.

Daily Here Planned By Mrs. McLean

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Edward B. McLean, who recently offered the famous Hope diamond in an unsuccessful effort to save The Washington Post for her sons, yesterday announced she would start another morning paper here to be known as The Enquirer.

Mrs. McLean, who lost out when The Post was put up at auction recently through inability to bid high enough, declared her projected new enterprise would bear the same name as the McLean paper in Cincinnati. She wanted it, she said, to give her sons—Edward B., jr., and John R. 2d—"something to interest themselves in."

"I have had this idea in mind for several weeks—ever since it appeared The Post would go," Mrs. McLean said, adding, however, that she did not intend to put up the Hope diamond this time if it could be avoided. She has already taken out incorporation papers under the laws of Delaware for the "McLean Publishing Co."

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—A new indictment in the Moose lottery case was returned in Federal Court today against United States Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania. The senator pleaded "not guilty," and trial was set tentatively for July 10.

The superseding indictment was drawn to clear up technical points which the Circuit Court of Appeals overruled in a similar case against Conrad H. Mann and others in a lottery trial involving the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Bay State Votes Today on Repeal

Boston, June 12 (A.P.).—The battle for retention or repeal of the eighteenth amendment swings into Massachusetts tomorrow when the Bay State will choose delegates to a constitutional convention for action on the repeal amendment.

Massachusetts will be the eleventh State to vote on the amendment. In the other ten States the verdict has been for repeal and leaders of the antiprohibition forces here were confident tonight that Massachusetts would join them by an overwhelming majority. Prohibition spokesmen made no predictions on the outcome of the vote.

95 Persons Are Alleged to Be Hoarding $660,601 Worth of Metal.

United States agents have interviewed 1,838 persons suspected of hoarding gold and have secured the return of $177,839 of the precious metal or of gold certificates, Attorney General Cummings said yesterday.

An additional list of about 2,500 names of suspected hoarders has also been submitted to the Department of Justice by the Treasury Department, he said, bringing the total list to about 12,000 names. Of those interviewed, 93 have returned gold at the request of the agents, while 95 have refused to do so. These 95 are alleged to be holding gold amounting to $660,601. The agents reported that 1,650 persons said they had already returned gold they withdrew amounting to $15,081,684. The agents have verified the story of 1,024 of these persons, the total amount of verified returns being slightly more than $10,000,000.

Mr. Cummings also revealed that he is considering making public the names of politicians who plead for paroles or pardons for gangsters. At present when pardons are granted, the names of the pleaders are sometimes made public, but, under the new plan, if adopted, full publicity will be given to applications for pardons.

Injunction proceedings under the antitrust laws have been instituted in the St. Louis Federal court against the National Retail Credit Association, Mr. Cummings also said yesterday. The Government asks that the association be restrained from certain allegedly monopolistic practices in fathering credit information.

ASSAULT OF DANCER CHARGED TO OFFICER

Navy Lieutenant Furnishes Bond of $100 as Trial Is Set for Today.

Lieut. Thomas C. Thomas, U. S. N., will appear in District Police Court this morning to answer charges of technical assault filed against him yesterday by Mrs. Ivy Norwood, attractive night club entertainer.

Arrested late yesterday by headquarters detectives, Lieut. Thomas furnished $100 bond and was released for his appearance in court.

Mrs. Norwood, who lives at 4120 Fourteenth street northwest, alleged that about 2:30 a. m. last Thursday, while en route home from a roadhouse near Rockville, Md., with Lieut. Thomas and her sister, Bernice Stevens, their automobile was involved in a collision.

She said that Lieut. Thomas became angered, used abusive language, and grabbed her by the throat and choked her. When both she and her sister protested, Mrs. Norwood declared, Lieut. Thomas started the machine and drove off.

After Lieut. Thomas produced witnesses who denied the use of abusive language or physical violence, Mrs. Norwood protested to a Post reporter last night that she was not given a chance to bring forth her witnesses to the incident.

Mrs. Norwood dances in a "sister team" with Miss Stevens. Lieut. Thomas, who lives at 1613 Harvard street northwest, is stationed at the Navy Department.

in various parts of Vienna. One person was killed and four seriously hurt when unidentified persons bombed one of the leading jewelry stores in the capital.

A small bomb exploded in Parliament later. It apparently was a signal for the Nazis to begin riotous demonstrations at Rinstrasse University and other important sections of the city.

Windows were smashed. Police arrested scores of rioters.

The police discovered an infernal machine containing high explosives concealed in a cafe near the grain exchange, with time-clock set to explode it at the hour when the bourse members customarily have their afternoon coffee. Almost all the members are Jews.

A report from Innsbruck said all Nazi leaders in the Tyrol had been arrested and the Nazi headquarters there were occupied by police in connection with a recent shooting.

ATTACKS ON REGROUP PLAN ARE LAUNCHED

called on to certify workers for vacancies the President is authorized to fill.

"When requests for certification of eligibles are received by the commission, the first step is to circularize the departments to see whether transfers can be effected, in the interest both of the Government and of employes who are likely to be dropped or furloughed for extended periods," it was stated.

"If the vacancies are not filled through transfer, the next step would be to resort to reemployment registers made up of those who have been dropped or furloughed. The registers of eligibles resulting from examinations are used only as a last resort."

Under the proposal, the Civil Service Commission will transmit to the various departments a list of positions for which certifications have been requested, together with an outline of the Council of Personnel Administration's plan.

The first circular sent out by the commission yesterday contains in part the following outline of the plan:

"Certain departments, whose appropriation situations will necessitate their putting even exceptionally good people on extended furlough or separating them from the service, have indicated their desire to transfer any employes qualified to fill vacancies, even though those particular employes are not the ones being considered for separation at this time. This decision on the part of the departments is based on the realization that the transfer of such employes will make it unnecessary to eliminate some other capable employes who would otherwise have to be separated or given extended furlough on account of appropriation cuts.

"The purpose of the present plan is to facilitate transfers of employes from departments whose appropriations are drastically reduced. It is not the purpose to encourage transfers of those who are in bureaus where they can remain without executive furloughs, even though they might desire such a transfer at this time. Since it requires considerable time to check all applications that will come in, the sending of the names of those not likely to lose their positions or have excessive furloughs would unnecessarily delay filling of the position. While there is no prohibition against circularizing all employes, the council does not wish to be in the position of requesting such action where it is not actually necessary."

Democratic Congressional leaders last night were of the opinion the President's $25,000,000 program will go into effect unaltered. To modify the order, both houses of Congress would have to adopt a resolution. If the President vetoed it, the resolution would have to be adopted again by a two-thirds vote of both houses. They held such a possibility extremely remote.

ROOSEVELT CHEERED BY FUTURE FARMERS

1,500 Members of National Organization Launch Convention.

An address from President Roosevelt, a short convention session, pilgrimages to Arlington and Mount Vernon and the climax, an evening of entertainment at Glen Echo, was yesterday's program for the Future Farmers of America.

More than 1,500 members of the group, made up of boys studying vocational agriculture from all sections of the country, registered yesterday morning at the Washington Auditorium.

At the White House they greeted the President with a burst of cheers and handclapping when he appeared on the south portico. He told them:

"I wish to remind you that you young men and women are representing the younger generation in agriculture and that in your hands lies the future of American rural life.

"I want you young men and women to bring home to this country the basic advantages of rural life. You are performing a real service for the future of this country, and I want you to go back to your respective States and keep up the good work."

Vernon Howell, of Guymon, Okla., and the other national officers of the group, placed wreaths on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and on Washington's tomb.

The trip to Glen Echo last night was arranged by the Greater National Capital Committee. The Future Farmers will be in Washington and vicinity for two more days visiting places of historic interest.

By GEORGE D. RILEY

EFFICIENCY ratings are being made and there is some holler in some quarters. Looking like some ratings have been made with the overapportionment issue in mind. There are some employes from distant States who say their grades have been knocked a peg or two, thus putting nearby States on a parity and that if quota is used to determine the fate of workers the more remote States will be at a disadvantage. And if quota is not used, they'll still be at a disadvantage. However, we have not found this condition to be general.

And we notice those with jobs in the woods are going to get raises "for competence." Nothing has been said about competence and more money or restored salary in departmental service. But maybe those with jobs in the woods do not enjoy the privilege of "maintaining the credit of the United States."

You will be interested to know that "few will lose jobs here under the regrouping plan." Where is that "saving of $25,000,000" to come in then? We've all heard of the man who was not fired but they stopped paying him wages, so he quit. And we know that if there is less money appropriated for salaries there'll certainly be fewer jobs.

Report comes into the open that that rotative furlough will be the supreme joker in the New Deal. It is planned to notify employes as the furlough comes around that because of the press of routine their services will be required. Sort of a backdriver's vacation, you term it. Still it's a report. We'll see.

From Prof. Raymond Moley we learn that sixteen to eighteen hours a day "spent in work are disheartteningly inadequate." Until a late hour last night Swarmi Fedd was peering into his crystal ball trying to figure how the professor still has time after eighteen hours of daily work to write his syndicate articles with his inside knowledge of how the Government functions. This will explain the mysterious absence of the Swarmi in recent days from his haunts.

And Congress shows a belated stiff upper lip. Congress yants to know what and why all the last-minute rush with the reorganization plan. Congress soon returns to face Government employes all over the country. Swarmi Fedd, the man who "knows all and sees all," admits he does not know what grievance the administration holds against those in Government service.

THIS form letter, with its attached letter, is sent in order that you may help clarify the situation of your readers who are at present in the census and aeronautics divisions, Department of Commerce. So many and varied stories are out that it is hoped you can unravel the situation and get the actual bona fide truths and get them published.

In a paper other than The Washington Post, under the title "Johnson Gets 'Loan' of Help," Malcolm Kerlin, administrative assistant to Secretary Roper, is credited with saying clerks were being absorbed by the new Johnson set-up. As far as can be ascertained no census clerks are included in this arrangement, but those of foreign and domestic commerce divisions are. I make this last assertion based upon published newspaper reports. Those higher up in the census do not believe that any census clerks will be so used.

Mr. Kerlin further seemed to create the impression that what was offered to census clerks was an indefinite furlough. This has never been done, as you can readily see by the attached, which is a true typed copy of the letter actually handed out. And if it were done it would have made useless the sending of a petition to Mr. Roper and Mr. Austin asking that indefinite furlough be granted. A copy of this petition should be available from either of these officials.

Quite naturally you can understand why this letter is not signed. But you can also verify these facts for yourselves, for they should be known.

—A GOVERNMENT CLERK.

P. S.—This letter was sent to all married people, even when either worked in a department other than the Census or Aeronautics.

Here is a question you might ask—Why can not Census and Aeronautics be given furloughs like the Postoffice Department says it intends to do. The letter:

Bureau of the Census, June 3, 1933.

It will probably be necessary to reduce the personnel of the bureau under the reorganization, and because of the reduction in the appropriations. Section 213 of the economy act provides that married persons shall go first. We are giving you this notice at this time in order that you may discuss the matter with your—— and decide which one is to leave the service.

Please let the bureau know definitely, in writing, by June 15, whether or not you will be the one to be retained in our service.

This notice is being sent to all employes of the bureau where the records show that the husband or wife is employed elsewhere in the Government. (Signed) W. L. AUSTIN, Director.

IT has come to attention of George Washington University that many Government employes who wish to take summer courses have delayed registering because of uncertainty concerning their positions.

In view of unsettled conditions, the university has authorized the following concessions with respect to payment of fees for courses this summer.

1. Government employes who, after making the first payment of tuition, find themselves compelled by circumstances beyond their control to withdraw from the university, may upon approval of the comptroller of the university have this payment returned to them. It will be understood that after a student has made his second payment he has undertaken to continue and complete his course, and in such case will not fall under this dispensation.

2. Government employes who do not receive their salary checks until Thursday, June 15, may register through that date without paying the late registration fee, if application made to the comptroller of the university is approved.

Mrs. Gertrude H. Her garden is well protected, for there are two bloodthirsty police dogs on watch throughout the grounds that surround her home in Takoma Park, Md. The best time to call is during the dinner hour.

During the six months' period between July 1, 1932, and December 31, 1932, there were 6,564 original applications for annuity filed under the Civil Service retirement act of May 29, 1930. Of this number it is estimated that approximately 3,700 were retired under the provisions of Section 204, of the economy act, which required the immediate retirement of all employes who had reached the retirement age for their group unless exempted by the President. During the six months' period 6,415 annuitants were added to the retirement rolls. This exceeds the number added to the rolls during any similar period since the establishment of the retirement system in 1920. It exceeds by 1,424 the additions to the roll during the entire previous fiscal year (1932). On December 31, 1932, there were 30,856 on the roll, of whom 20,865 had been retired for age, 6,614 for disability, 1,983 for optional retirement after having rendered 30 years' service, and 1,494 because of involuntary separation from the service.

The monthly payment on account of annuities for June, 1932, was $2,060,839.80. For the month of December, 1932, the disbursements amounted to $2,537,072.23. The balance in the Civil Service retirement fund increased during this period from $223,588,126.02 to $243,402,050.46. This increase in the fund was due in part to an appropriation of $21,000,000 made by Congress for credit to the fund and also to an interest credit of $500,987.82.

DAVID J. PRICE, Agriculture's fire chief, has gone to another fire or rather to learn the cause of an explosion in a celluloid reclaiming plant in North Arlington, N. J.

Of course, Dr. Price doesn't sit in an engine house and at every alarm rush out to a farm. Oh, no, his interests are deeper. They center in scientific research—dust explosions. How can the facts in this or that disaster be made a safety insurance for the future.

Grain dust explosions, he admits, often make total wrecks of farm machinery; entirely suspend milling operations, and take a toll of human life. He insistently urges—Don't smoke in mills; keep ignitions away from farm machinery, and thus minimize the hazards of dust explosions and fires, with consequent economic losses.

800 BID FAREWELL TO POPULAR PRIEST

Father Burke, of St. Dominic's, Leaving to Be Vicar Provincial.

Gathering in the parish hall of St. Dominic's Church in Southwest Washington, 800 persons, including a number of high officials in the Catholic Church, bade bon voyage last night to the Rev. Raphael M. Burke, pastor of the church for the past four years, who has been appointed vicar provincial of a newly-created province in the West.

Testimonials were paid the departing priest by Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, who presided at the farewell celebration; Archbishop Curley, Mgr. James H. Ryan, rector of Catholic University, and the Very Rev. T. S. McDermott, provincial of the Province of St. Joseph.

Mgr. Eugene Connelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church, and Mgr. Patrick Gavin, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, were among the platform guests.

The farewell celebration also marked the thirteenth anniversary of the ordination of Father Burke to the priesthood. He has been connected with St. Dominic's parish for twelve years. The province to which he has been appointed vicar provincial extends from the Mississippi River to the Rocky Mountains.

Father Burke paid a glowing tribute to members of the parish, declaring that without their cooperation he could not have accomplished "the little" he has done. He revealed that he is well acquainted with his successor, whose identity has not yet been disclosed, and predicted that when the new pastor arrives, his own absence "will scarcely be felt."

Members of the parish offered donations as they entered the hall toward a purse to be presented to Father Burke. The total sum of the gift is expected to exceed $1,000.

EXCEEDS QUOTA

LLOYD B. WILSON, chairman of the public utilities classification, the first group to exceed its quota in the third annual campaign of the Greater National Capital committee.

TRADE UNIT'S QUOTA 65 PER CENT RAISED

Another Week Remains in Annual Drive for Fund to Attract Travelers.

After the first week of the third annual campaign of the Greater National Capital committee, more than 65 per cent of its quota has been raised, it was announced yesterday by Robert V. Fleming, chairman of the campaign committee at a meeting of the campaign leaders yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel.

Approximately 50 prominent local business men make up the convention which has another week yet to raise the quota.

Mr. Fleming told the committee members yesterday that the reports thus far were gratifying in that they showed that those who were subscribers last year are almost without an exception making their subscription for this year as large or larger than those of last year. The success of the campaign, he said, lay in contacting those who should subscribe.

The campaign chairman impressed on the leaders of the campaign the vital importance of completing the amount necessary to carry on the work of the G. N. C. C. Other important cities, he pointed out, are adequately financing their organizations for the promotion of the travel industry in Washington with its many attraction and interests, proper attention to the travel industry is even more necessary than in other cities. This industry in Washington, he said, is second in importance in putting into circulation, to the Government money pay roll.

Claude S. Owen, president of the Washington Board of Trade, urged the committee to impress upon subscribers that their contributions to this enterprise include the numerous contributions to special events formerly solicited from Washington residents.

Mr. Fleming complimented the public utilities classification for already having surpassed its quota. Lloyd B. Wilson is chairman of this classification. Seven other classifications have raised more than half their quotas.

Downes seeks an injunction restraining Culbertson and his magazine, the Bridge World, from advertising that they are the sole owners of the approach forcing system and that Downes is not authorized by them to teach it in his book.

The directors, in session here, also adopted a resolution asking Congress to complete its investigation of administration of the agricultural marketing act and of the agricultural trades and the commodity exchanges.

QUENSTEDT TO HOLD MAYORALTY TO 1936

Republicans, by Court Action, Forestall Registration of Voters This Year.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 13.—Legal complications arising over a new law governing municipal elections in Annapolis, passed at the late session of the General Assembly, apparently struck a heavy blow to plans of Democrats for the election that ordinarily would be held in July, as the result of a ruling passed by Judge William H. Forsythe, jr., in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court today.

After hearing arguments on mandamus proceedings Judge Forsythe passed an order holding that the board of election supervisors for the city were legislated out of office June 1 under provisions of the new act, and the net result is that the present membership of the city council, headed by Walter E. Quenstedt, Republican mayor, automtically will continue in office until 1936.

Legislative Act Needed.

In other words, Judge Forsythe brought to the attention of the disputants a point they entirely had overlooked, that is, that the new law, which repealed existing statutes failed to make provision for registration or election officials, and in the absence of such machinery, neither a registration nor an election could be legally held.

It seems that the Republicans engineered a coup on their rivals. They brought the mandamus action to forestall a new registration of voters which the Democrats had planned to hold tomorrow, and questioning the validity of the new legislation, demanded that a primary election be held instead, under provision of the old law. While the ruling of Judge Forsythe made no specific reference as to the constitutional point, it was interpreted to mean that the new law is valid, but that no election can be held until the error concerning registration and election officials is corrected by legislative act two years hence. Another important change is the law to make elections fall every three years, instead of biennially.

Double Purpose of Law.

The new law was drafted at the instance of Democratic leaders for a twofold purpose, to wrest control of the Annapolis Water Co. from Republican regime and place it under direct jurisdiction of the city council, the majority of which is Democratic, and also to make the office of city counselor appointive, rather than elective, and deprive that official of a vote in the council. The design of the latter was to eliminate the possibility of Republicans again electing that official. But under today's ruling officials of the water board also automatically continue to hold on. The old law governing the company makes the mayor and counselor, members of the board of directors, and this paves the way for control, as Roscoe C. Rowe, counselor, like Mayor Quenstadt, is Republican.

The Democrats also were making determined plans to dethrone Quenstedt from the mayoralty, which he has held for two terms. Quenstedt was to have been opposed by Charles E. Chance, business man, who was defeated two years ago by one vote.

Woman Is Cleared Of Accident Blame

The Laurel (Md.) Police Court yesterday released Etta J. Decker, 1026 Connecticut avenue, charged with reckless driving as a result of an automobile accident at Beltsville, Md., May 27.

Mrs. William C. Meyers, of Thomasville, N. C., is recuperating in Providence Hospital from a fractured spine, received in the accident. Fred F. Loock, 40, of Milwaukee, Wis., and John Cranford, 27, Thomasville, N. C., were also injured when a car, driven by Mrs. Meyers' son, William, 18, collided with the car of Harry M. Woods, 38, of Baltimore.

The accident was alleged to have been caused by the effort on the part of William Meyers to avoid collision with Miss Decker's car, which was approaching from the right. Meyers was fined $5 and costs for reckless driving. The court also fined James Woods, Bowie, Md., $50 and costs for illegal possession of whisky. In default of payment he was committed to jail for 60 days. Walter L. Burns, Relay, Md., was fined $25 and costs for speeding.

Trolley Firm Sues Owners of Truck

Contending that the trolley car was going about its business in an orderly and proper manner, while the truck was being driven carelessly and recklessly, the Arlington & Fairfax Railway Co. filed suit in the circuit court of Fairfax County yesterday against O. A. Cook & Son, of Edinburgh, Va., a trucking company, for $1,000 damages in connection with an accident on the Lee highway cutoff on May 13.

In the crash between the trolley car and the 2-ton truck, C. A. Cook was seriously injured and was in Georgetown Hospital for several days.

Cook and his son were returning home from Washington when the accident occurred. The trolley was knocked from the track. Both the car and the truck were badly damaged.

Alert Woman Saves Life When Train Strikes Auto

Mrs. Florence Kaiser's Car Skids Onto Track but She Escapes Unhurt.

MRS. FLORENCE KAISER.

Mrs. Florence Kaiser's quick action saved her life late Sunday night when her automobile was demolished by a speeding Baltimore & Ohio express train at a grade crossing near Beltsville, Md.

In describing the crash yesterday, the young woman, who lives at Hyattsville, Md., and who is an employe of the Radio Corporation of America, said her car skidded onto the southbound tracks as she was avoiding a collision with another automobile.

Just as she was trying to drive her car from the tracks, she heard the whistle of the oncoming train. She jumped from the car and ran in the direction of the train.

She ran this way, she said, because she thought possibly her car would derail and wreck the train and she feared that the cars might overturn upon her. She also said she had in mind the bare possibility of halting the train before the collision.

The train was making almost 70 miles an hour when it struck the car. It hurled the motor through the railway station and carried the chassis a mile and a half farther to where the train stopped.

Mrs. Kaiser, who was just riding alone, said she may have fainted when the crash occurred as she remembered nothing after leaving the automobile until some people were helping her.

The impact of the collision smashed the front end of the locomotive so that another had to come from Union Station to bring the train in.

COLORED MAN GOES ON ALEXANDRIA JURY

Judge Woolls Responds to Request That at Least One Be Drawn.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A colored man served on a grand jury in Alexandria yesterday, for the first time within the memory of the oldest residents, and probably the first time in the history of the city.

A colored attorney from Boston, said to represent the Association for the Advancement of Colored People, came to Alexandria Sunday, and urged the selection of at least one colored man on the grand jury to hear the case of Lloyd Wade, colored, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Henry F. Burke, who was fatally injured when his parked automobile was struck by one driven by Wade the morning of June 4. The colored attorney is also said to represent George Crawford, who was indicated for the murder of two white women in Middleburg, and whose extradition to Virginia was refused by Federal Judge Lowell, of Boston, who is now under impeachment charges.

Lucius Gaines, employed since 1875 as porter for the drug firm of W. F. Creighton & Co., and who enjoys an excellent reputation, was the one chosen for jury duty. Judge William P. Woolls, of the Corporation Court, ordered the selection of a new grand jury panel, the names of seven colored men being submitted, and that of Gaines withdrawn. A true bill was found in the case of Wade.

True bills were also returned against George B. Walters, alias R. O. Anderson, alias R. O. Ripper, alias R. O. Bradford, and Virginia Harding, alias Virginia Stahl, both charged with the robbery of an A. & P. Co. store in Potomac March 2; George Dixon, colored, murder of Edward Eldridge, August 10, 1928; John Henry Blackwell, felonious assault; John Milton Treger, attempting to shoot Maggie B. Carter; Harry Brown, alias Coon Brown, attempting to shoot Clarence Holland.

Husband Sought For Beating Wife

Beaten and choked allegedly by her estranged husband, Mrs. Laura Weaver, 53, Berwyn Heights, Md., was treated at Casualty Hospital last night for severe bruises about the face and neck. Meanwhile Prince Georges County police were searching for her husband, Edward J. Weaver, on charges of assault and battery.

The man is alleged to have choked and beaten the woman when she refused to leave his car, as he ordered her to do. She had entered the car to talk with him when he called at the home to visit the children and bring supplies. The screams of the frightened children brought neighbors to the scene.

The man fled after putting the woman out of the car. He has been living in Bladensburg, Md.

Another victim of week-end automobile accidents died early yesterday in the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring, Md., the second to succumb following a series of serious mishaps.

An emergency operation could not save Miss Gladys Baker, 25, of Burnt Mills, Md. She died a short time after leaving the operating table. She was injured when the machine in which she was riding overturned near Spencerville, Md., Sunday night.

Her escort, Harry Shelby, 27, of Silver Spring, Md., suffered a fractured leg and severe lacerations. He was driving the machine. Passersby extricated the couple from the wreckage and hurried them to the hospital. Shelby said he was blinded by the light of an oncoming machine.

Dog Catcher

Is Needed in Falls Church, but No One Wants the Position.

The town of Falls Church, Va., needs a dog catcher and Mayor L. P. Daniel can not find any one to take the position, he told the town council last night.

The announcement came during discussion of complaints of irate housewives and citizens who stated that dogs are destroying their flower beds and keeping them awake at night with canine complaints and greetings across the backyards.

Mayor Daniel stated that inasmuch as he could not find any one willing to take the job, he will appeal to the State game wardens in Arlington and Fairfax Counties to take charge of the situation and hail the owners of unlicensed dogs into court, where they will be subject to fine.

Meanwhile the committee on town laws will investigate ordinances compelling the owners of night straying canines to confine them to their own premises.

New Directories Being Sent To 200,000 Phone Patrons

The new telephone directories are being delivered to 200,000 subscribers in Washington and its environs.

The new directory makes its appearance in a new green cover, on the front of which is a tabulation of telephone rates to out-of-town points frequently called by local subscribers.

So that there will be no confusion in calling numbers, John A. Remon, general manager of the telephone company, asks that all old copies of the directory be returned.

One of the features of the new directory is a blank page for new numbers and numbers frequently called. Many people may now avail themselves of these pages, which expedites the calling of numbers frequently contacted.

The new book carries a list of foreign countries and as well as ships at sea which may be contacted by Bell Telephone Co. subscribers.

$80,000 IN HIGHWAY CONTRACTS VOTED

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Contracts for $80,000 worth of materials for treatment of 100 miles of roadway were authorized by the county board at a special meeting yesterday.

The contract for surfacing with bituminous material was awarded to the Bituminous Products Co., of Washington. It amounted to $50,000. The $30,000 contract for the providing and applying covering materials was given to the Northern Virginia Construction Co., of Clarendon.

The program as laid out by County Manager Roy S. Braden provided for the resurfacing of 75 miles of road and the surfacing of 25 miles of new roadways. The cost to the county for preparation of the 25 miles of new roads is not to exceed $60,000, making a total expenditure by the county for raod work of $140,000.

It is expected, according to County Manager Braden, that the work of resurfacing will start about July 1. The construction of 25 miles of new roads will be under way in about 60 days. This program does not include the construction of the approach to the Arlington Memorial Bridge.

To avoid the holding of four meetings a month, two of which have been for the purpose of approving the pay rolls, the board, on motion of Board Member Lyman M. Kelly, voted to hold two meetings a month, beginning with next month. Future meetings will be held on the fourteenth and last day of each month.

The board will consider a claim of the manufacturers of fire-fighting equipment amounting to $34,752, in addition to interest of $4,847, totaling $39,599. This equipment was purchased by the former county board of supervisors and has not been paid for by the present new board because of an opinion of the Commonwealth's attorney to the effect that the purchases by the former board on installment plan was illegal. The matter has been pending since the new board took office on January 1, 1932.

GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY HONORS ELLSWORTH

A certificate of honorary life membership in the National Geographic Society was bestowed on Lincoln Ellsworth, noted aerial polar explorer, at a luncheon given in his honor at the society headquarters yesterday.

During the luncheon, the explorer revealed that he plans to make a flight of exploration over the Antarctic continent during the coming fall. The coleader of the Amundsen-Ellsworth-Noble North Pole expedition of 1926 said he planned to sail for Norway soon to make plans for the flight.

Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the society, wished Mr. Ellsworth good fortune on the flight, and presented him with a National Geographic flag, which the explorer will take south with him. Dr. Grosvenor bestowed the certificate of membership on the flier, an honor which has been given only to eighteen other persons in the history of the society.

In discussing the flight, Mr. Ellsworth said he will sail from San Francisco for New Zealand late in the summer. His exploration flights will be made from an established base. On the flights he will be accompanied by his friend Balchen, who will handle the controls and operate the wireless.

Rations for three months will be carried in the plane along with sledges, cooking and sleeping equipment. The plane, in which he places full confidence, has a cruising radius of 4,200 miles on 500 gallons of gasoline, a cruising speed of 150 miles an hour and a top speed of 230 miles an hour. The plane can be landed at a speed much lower than ordinary.

COLD WATER AT LONDON.

Prime Minister MacDonald's opening address at the World Economic conference leaves no doubt as to Great Britain's stand on the war debts. His plain suggestion is that the war debts owed to the United States should be scaled down about 90 per cent, as were German reparations at the Lausanne conference. The question of war debts, he said, must be taken up without delay by the nations concerned, even though discussion of that subject is barred from the economic conference.

The effect of Mr. MacDonald's speech is to make agreements at London contingent upon a satisfactory adjustment of the war debts. His original purpose in calling a world-wide conference was to bring about a settlement of the war debts as well as monetary and tariff problems. The United States refused to join in the conference until discussion of the debts had been eliminated from the agenda. But Britain and France have insisted that adjustment of the debts must be brought about while the conference is in progress. Mr. MacDonald's pointed reference to the debts is a reminder to the United States that European governments expect action on this issue before anything substantial is concluded at London.

In line with this policy the British government is believed to have made an offer to pay the United States about 10 per cent of the installment which is due on June 15. The British loathe default, yet the MacDonald government is apparently determined not to continue payments under the debt funding agreement. Six months ago London offered to pay the installment then due on condition that it would be considered as a "capital payment" toward a final settlement of the debt. Secretary Stimson promptly rejected the offer because he did not have authority to make any such arrangements.

Apparently the British government is now trying a similar compromise with the Roosevelt administration. There is no indication that it will succeed. If a small sum should be offered as payment on account, it might be accepted with a reminder to the debtor that the partial payment did not change in any way the obligation to make full remittance. But if a partial payment should be tendered conditionally, the President would doubtless feel compelled to reject it because of the restrictions written into the law approving the moratorium.

It appears, therefore, that the debts question has reached a stalemate. The President is in no position to make concessions, and Europe demands concessions before making further payments and before concluding substantial agreements at the world conference. Prime Minister MacDonald has cast a spell of gloom over the conference. Formal discussion of the debts may be forbidden at London, but that does not prevent the issue from being thrown into the face of the American delegation every time it advances its own program for economic reconstruction. Nor does it prevent inaction on the part of the conference until the debts issue has been disposed of.

Congress is about to adjourn without indicating its policy on the debts or relinquishing in any way the restrictions upon the President in dealing with this issue. Thus the debts become a major handicap to the economic conference at its very beginning.

TO SYSTEMATIZE BUYING.

A very practical feature of the President's plans for governmental reorganization will be the consolidation of purchases of Government supplies. There is no question that large savings can be made in this way. Instead of having separate purchasing agencies for the Army and Navy and many other branches of the service, it is proposed to establish a central Washington office through which all orders for supplies shall pass.

Elimination of duplicated bureaus can be effected under the proposed plan, greater standardization secured, and further savings insured through lower prices obtained by combining wholesale orders. It is estimated that centralized buying will make it possible to save millions of dollars in the total annual outlay for Government supplies.

This is a field in which the President has had practical experience, and the changes contemplated enlist his personal interest. During the war, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, he reorganized the purchasing department of that department upon a most efficient basis. Under his supervision the Navy's needs were supplied even more promptly than those of the Army. On the still larger scale which contemplates uniting all requirements generally in one office it will be possible to deal directly with manufacturers, avoiding the delays and extra costs of purchases made through jobbers and distributors.

INFLATION AND PRICES.

Three months have passed since the dollar began its decline from parity with gold. During that period momentous changes have taken place. Commodity prices have slowly turned upward, and the dollar has undergone a number of spasmodic sinking spells.

It is time to review the possible accomplishments from devaluation of the dollar. The chief purpose of the inflation policy, as revealed by statements from the White House and the debate in Congress, is to raise commodity prices. Officials hope that by depressing the value of money and raising prices they can ease the burden of debt upon the people. But there is not much indication that the inflation policy is having that effect.

For the week ending March 4 the commodity price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics stood at 59.6. For the week ending June 3 the same index, including all commodities, stood at 64.8. During the first three months of inflation, therefore, commodity prices as a whole rose 4.2 points in the index, or about 7 per cent.

This rise has not been spread over all commodities. Farm products gained nearly 13 points, but are still near one-half of the 1926 farm prices. Hides and leather products, textiles and foods made rather notable gains. A considerable part of these gains may be ascribed to the smaller farm crops this year and to hopes growing out of the farm relief act. Most other commodity prices show little change. Light and fuel prices declined more than three points; household furnishings and miscellaneous goods were slightly lower than on March 4.

It appears, therefore, that various other factors besides the fall of the dollar have been operating on commodity prices. Only part of the 7 per cent increase in the entire list of commodity prices may be ascribed to inflation. But if the other factors are disregarded, that is not a very impressive achievement when it is measured against depreciation of the dollar.

In terms of gold the dollar is now worth only about 80 cents. Since the United States abandoned the gold standard the value of its currency has fallen 20 per cent. If a 20 per cent fall in the dollar is required to bring about a 7 per cent rise in commodity prices, where will the dollar be when commodity prices have been brought back to the 1926 level by this method? This question is of the utmost importance in view of the fact that the 1926 price level is considered the objective at which the administration is aiming.

A further increase of 57 per cent would be necessary to bring commodity prices to the 1926 level. This would mean an increase more than eight times as great as that already achieved. If the shrinkage of the dollar is no more effective in raising commodity prices in the future than it has been in the last three months, the dollar would be reduced to zero long before the 1926 price level could be attained.

Great Britain, Japan and several other countries have found that commodity prices can not be permanently raised by debasement of their currencies. British prices are now lower than when that country went off the gold standard nearly two years ago. Phenomenal price increases do not develop from inflation until confidence in paper money has been lost and a country is on the road to financial disaster.

There is at present no indication that the administration intends to drive the dollar down to dangerous levels in an effort to raise prices. Experience thus far suggests that other means, such as the stimulation of demand for goods, must be relied upon to bring prices back to normal. Hence, stabilization of the dollar becomes an issue of the utmost importance. Stabilization is essential to give business and industry a basis on which to go forward. In view of the meager results already attained from inflation, it would be folly to drift further in this direction in the hope that a falling dollar would enhance other values. American business which is eager to move forward ought not to be delayed while the World Economic Conference is trying to reach an agreement for restoration of the gold standard. Temporary stabilization of the dollar has become highly desirable.

THE QUADRILATERAL PACT.

In his address to the Italian senate following the preliminary signing of the four-power pact Premier Mussolini urged that it be understood, not as an alliance, but as an acknowledgment of principles in the supreme interest of peace and reconstruction. After weeks of discussion the original draft of the compact was modified to minimize arms equality and to bring the question of any future revision of treaty provisions regarding national borders within the machinery of the League of Nations. The Italian premier, father of the document, still holds that inherent principles have not been lost.

Mussolini warned against "imbecile optimism" with regard to results to be secured, yet expressed the belief that an early demonstration of the pact's usefulness might be given through the adjustment of long-standing differences between Italy and France, which have on several recent occasions been a stumbling block to European accord. He further held that the agreement bound the signatory powers to act together in the consideration of the current problems of major importance, treaty revision and armaments.

In many ways Mussolini is the most forceful of all European leaders today. It may well be that giving him this position of leadership in the peace movement may be the most important feature of the pact.

Dissensions over certain provisions and the delay in signing combined to create the impression that the quadripartite document finally agreed upon is of little moment, yet the characteristic aggressiveness of Mussolini may enable him to develop his plan into one of great importance. It gives him a more direct contact and means of modifying extreme demands in Berlin, and if it enables him to compromise old disputes with France, that alone will justify the pact. In a word, if Mussolini, once feared for his militaristic ways and imperialistic designs, now becomes the equally aggressive champion of peace and international cooperation, the pact that enables him to take this leadership will serve a useful purpose.

EXECUTIVE REORGANIZATION.

Congress was very much upset by President Roosevelt's executive order making extensive changes in the Government service. The first outbreak of resentment arose from the fact that the order was submitted to Congress at a moment when it was ready to adjourn. Senators protested that they did not have time to consider the reorganization order thoroughly. Some of them feel that the President delayed action until the eleventh hour to avoid opposition, but Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that he had not had time to prepare the order earlier is undoubtedly sincere.

Aside from the manner in which the order was presented, there is a good deal of opposition to some of the changes it would bring about. Congress appears to have been startled by the sweeping nature of some of the steps outlined by the President. Have senators forgotten that they gave the President dictatorial powers over the Government service? The economy act was passed with such haste that they did not grasp its significance. Now when the President begins to put it into effect members of Congress begin to wonder why they voted to endow him with such extraordinary powers.

As originally enacted, the reorganization law required that changes made by executive decree should be submitted to Congress and that they should not become effective until the expiration of 60 legislative days. Congress amended this law on March 20 so that reorganization orders may become effective 60 calendar days after they have been submitted to Congress. In other words, such measures go into force automatically within 60 days, regardless of whether Congress may have adjourned in the meantime.

There is no way that Congress may interfere with the President's plan, except by passing a law to repeal it. Even then, the President might veto the act of disapproval, and it would require two-thirds of both houses to change the reorganization plan in any way. With a large Democratic majority in both houses, it is not to be supposed that opposition will be strong enough to jeopardize reorganization.

One section of the executive order which aroused bitter opposition would reduce by 25 per cent agricultural experiment and extension activities, land grant college funds and vocational education work. Senator Austin and some others regard this as an attempt to legislate under the guise of reorganization. Perhaps it is. Nevertheless, Congress gave the President that power. He may set aside statutes or parts of statutes under his authority to abolish the functions of any executive agency. It is quite futile for Congress to rant and complain after it has given away its powers.

We respectfully suggest a few caucuses before dispersement of congressmen for their home firesides so that they won't get their stories twisted when they face the veterans.

SILVER IN THE TREASURY

From the Kansas City Times.

A cable from London quotes Viscount Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer, as saying he favors payment in silver of the $76,000,000 due the United States June 15. Congress authorized this form of payment in the inflation measure, recently enacted, to the extent of $200,000,000, at a price not to exceed 50 cents an ounce.

The present price of silver is about 35 cents an ounce. If the British government can obtain the necessary quantity of silver around present market price and deliver 150,000,000 ounces to the United States Treasury at 50 cents an ounce, it will save $22,000,000 on its debt payment. Of course, the maximum of 50 cents an ounce does not fix that as a price.

The British government has no such a quantity of silver in its possession, but doubtless the metal could be obtained in India, which has been disposing of silver for several years, out of its immense hoards. Some of it has been coming direct to New York, which recently also has received silver from China, Russia, Germany, Japan and London, because speculation has raised the price in New York above the world parity, making it profitable to ship the metal to this country.

The law requires the United States Treasury to issue silver certificates against any metal received on debt payments and to coin it into standard silver dollars or subsidiary coins. The Treasury now possesses more than half billion silver dollars against outstanding silver certificates. These silver dollars are entirely useless in the present money system of the country. Ostensibly held for the redemption of silver certificates, there is never any such use made of them because they are worth only about 35 cents as silver, and nobody wants such dollars in redemption of certificates that are legally maintained at par with all other money. Only about 28,000,000 silver dollars are actually in circulation.

One purpose for the authorization of war debt payments in silver was to dispose of some of the surplus silver in the world for the purpose of raising the price and benefiting the silver miners of this country, with, possibly, the ultimate result of raising the price to a level at which it may be easier for the inflationists to enact laws making silver a standard money metal. Another purpose was to avoid debt cancellation on the one hand or debt repudiations on the other. Silver was made acceptable as better than no pay.

Or is it that the Morganites decline to associate with corps. that are not smart enough to avoid such payments?

As Col. Howe explains the new home loan act it offers the owner opportunity to go to the mortgagee and say: "My home and I are such bad risks you'd better swap us for 4 per cent bonds."

Wildman Brookhart's exclusive license to recognize Russia was doubtless issued with the understanding that he would feel complimented.

Miss Perkins will investigate the charge that factory girls are making pants for the foresteers at starvation wages. They might as well be married to them.

The American delegates are barred from talking debts at the London conference, but evidently it will not save them from hearing things.

"Hull to make tariff truce gesture at London conference." Prof. Moley certainly should allow him that much leeway.

The R. F. C. cuts the interest on loans and will attempt to attach a string to the far end and pull them through the banks into industry.

King George's neutrality lasted only long enough for MacDonald to harp on debts, Hull on tariffs and Daladier on money; the eternal triangle even in the family of nations.

Preliminary reports from London indicate that if possible the conference is going to be scared into doing something.

While the kit controversy raged the Army bought without catastrophe $7,000,000 worth of knick-knacks for the foresteers.

It remained for the President's secretary to diagram the extent to which the home loan act is going to put Uncle Sam in the real estate business—and Howe he did it!

By the time the other nations get all their straw men loaded our tariff barque will be Hull down beyond the horizon.

Fortunately the President realizes that the major measures enacted by Congress need major generals to give them marching orders.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

WORDSWORTH IN 1802.

How slowly mortals learn! We come and go,
Repeating over the same blunders o'er.
Once the great Wordsworth, sick at heart and sore,
Watching the pageantry of pomp and show
And the sham triumphs humans strive to know,
Wrote this brief line man's avarice to deplore:
"Plain living and high thinking are no more."
And still for us, the flowers he cherished grow.
Ever it seems his "homely beauty" waits
For men with rapturous ecstasy to find.
Fortune alone is welcome at our gates
And vainly tap the joys of gentler kind.
Yet with so little we could brave the fates
And find contentment were we so inclined.

All Would Be Their Brother's Keeper If It Required Nothing But Advice.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WE are a nation of meddlers. We feel an obligation to regulate the conduct and the affairs of other people.

This trait was bequeathed to us by the Puritans. When they had escaped the tyranny of a king, they hastened to substitute the tyranny of conscience. And when they had restrained themselves, interest in their brother's soul prompted them to restrain him also.

Restraining other people became a national habit and made us a race of busybodies.

Now, the natural state of man is a state of freedom. He feels no instinctive urge or obligation to obey authority.

In childhood he is subject to the natural discipline of parental authority, and in maturity he is restrained by the tribal taboos and customs that expediency has developed to fit the needs of his race.

But nature qualifies his liberty in no other way. He has no boss.

He may agree, for a consideration, to obey the commands of an employer. He may make a contract of marriage or another form of partnership that will impose certain logical obligations and restrictions, but these are willingly assumed and therefore subtract nothing from his liberty. A collar is no indication of servitude if it is willingly worn.

Whatever restraints man may accept of his own free will, the fact remains that no human being has the right to boss him.

That seems an obvious truth, but Americans do not accept it.

Almost without exception, Americans of both sexes and of all ages and of high and low estate endeavor to dominate or restrain or direct their fellows. Everybody tries to boss somebody.

Employers try to regulate the private lives or the thinking of employes.

Parents try to dominate the lives of adult children.

Adult children try to control their parents.

Husbands try to think for their wives and wives try to remake their husbands.

Neighbors try to reform neighbors, and even the dead try to direct the lives of their surviving heirs.

It is a colossal and unpardonable impudence.

Tolerance is the foundation of the urbanity that distinguishes the civilized human being, and tolerance is born of the conviction that the private affairs of other people are none of your business.

You aren't Providence. You have no divine call to regulate other people and set them right. Why not brighten your corner by cultivating a deliberate indifference to matters that don't concern you?

POLITICAL COMMENT

The President's Health.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is difficult to conceive of a more valuable quantity in this country right now than the health of Franklin Roosevelt. People of all political affiliations agree that he alone can carry out the program that promises the salvation of our economic structure. Even those who are not his admirers must hope that fate will grant him the opportunity to carry to its conclusion the fight he has begun. His physical strength has been the marvel of those who surround him since he entered the White House, but that strength must be preserved by recourse to the one form of exercise which is adapted to his needs.

Fine in Theory.

Sioux Falls (S. Dak.) Argus-Leader.

In theory, the rural credits venture was a grand thing. In theory, the Russian system held forth glowing possibilities. In theory, Muscle Shoals seems inviting. But theory and practice are often as far apart as the poles. Theory has a habit of disregarding human nature and human impulses. But actual administration of any venture must consider them.

Today's Version.

Jacksonville Times-Union.

Moral.

Ohio State Journal.

So live that you'll never have to explain the purchase of stock below the market price.

Mint-Flavored.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Intoxicating in Georgia, nonintoxicating in Kentucky. Well, three-point-two may effect Georgians that way, but Kentucky is used to something stiffer.

Debt's Heavy Burden.

Boston Transcript.

Interest on the debts of States and the local governments within them amounted to $887,000,000 in 1932. In addition retirements called for $607,000,000. Debt service, therefore, required a total of about one and one-half billion dollars. Local and State debts in 1932 amounted to $18,685,000,000. It was an increase from $17,000,000,000 in 1929; was about double the total in 1922, and four times that in 1916. Reduced to the debt per capita, it amounts to $152.75. Ten years earlier it was $79.09; in 1912, $39.88.

Oil Power.

Topeka Capital.

There must be particularly powerful influences in oil when even this Congress refuses to protect the industry when the administration earnestly urges it.

Fortune's Favorites.

Indianapolis Star.

The proverbial "teacher's pet" wasn't in it with those who occupied preferred places on the Morgan mailing list.

THE ONCE OVER
By H. I. PHILLIPS

IN AGAIN.

When prices went crashing a few years ago
And "blue-chippers" joined in the fall—
When daily my stocks hit another new low
I vowed I was through with it all.
I said I would never take chances again
No matter how markets might soar,
But now, though I once shouted, "Never again!"
I'm back in the market once more.

When all of my savings went out like a light
And nothing remained but a dime,
I loudly proclaimed with great vigor and might,
"I'm through with the tape for all time!"
I said I was done with all manner of tips
And finished with short cuts to gold,
But now I'm again watching movements of lips
And falling for dope as of old.

When Steel took that tumble with Auburn and Case,
And Telephone, too, took a drop—
When Kennecott Copper fell flat on its face,
And Goldman-Sachs took such a flop,
I wept bitter tears and went off my nut
As I cried to the housetops, "I'm through!"
A fool and a dumb-bell I called myself, but I am in again buying anew.

When all of the good ones went down with the bad
And Central fell clear out of sight,
I bellowed in tones quite distressing and sad,
"Well, I've learned my lesson all right!"
I told all my friends I had been just a fool
And the statement was plainly a fact,
But I'm in there again looking 'round for a pool,
And I swallow all rumors intact.

Motors and Solvents fell into the well,
And Celotex crashed on its ear—
When many were bruised in the hurry to sell
And all of us knuckled to fear,
I said that from then on I'd stick to my last
And save what I could from my pay,
But that was a mood, so I find, that has passed—
I'm playing the market today.

When all that I had was some paper to show
How quickly my savings had fled—
When nothing was left of my personal dough
And all my "investments" turned red,
I held up my hand and I swore to the skies
I'd mastered my lesson, and how!
But since the old market has started to rise
I find I am weakening now.

Oh, back in the panic I said I was cured
(And watered the plants with my tears);
I'm wondering now how I ever endured
The strain and the shock of those years;
"You'll never see me reading stock market tripe,
Or following tips," was my cry . . .
They tell me a good thing is Cast Iron Pipe—
Say, listen, is Case a good buy?

THE REGULATIONS.

Under the bill for licensing business, will the American business man be expected to wear markers front and rear?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Jefferson's Policy Cited for Benefit of Congressmen — All-American Doctrine Which Should Be Upheld.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: At this moment, when there is some indication that Congress is getting ready to do a little thinking for itself, permit me to quote the following declaration of policy from President Jefferson's first inaugural address. It has been reprinted many times, but I feel sure The Post will consider it appropriate for rereading just now.

"The support of the State governments in all their rights as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-Republican tendencies; the preservation of the whole Government in its constitutional vigor, as the sheet-anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad."

In other words, if yielding to those who now scoff at American tradition we experimentally announce the constitutional balance between the Nation and the States, the United States will inevitably become a socialistic state, with arbitrary power to direct our future course. I believe it would save us from more trouble than we have yet seen if the members of the present Congress would wake up and give the Jeffersonian doctrine as much as five or ten minutes of serious consideration. It is not only Democratic doctrine, it is the all-American doctrine as well, and would not interfere with the enactment of a sales tax relief measure if that is how Congress would at any time like to legislate.

Events in Washington Society

President Planning To Leave Capital On Thursday.

THE PRESIDENT CONTEMplates leaving on Thursday on the first extended trip away from Washington that he has made since coming to the Capital on March 4. If the tentative schedule arranged is carried out, the President will leave Washington Thursday for Groton, Mass., where he will attend the graduation exercises the following day. His son, Franklin, jr., will be one of the graduates.

At the conclusion of the exercises, the President will go aboard the 41-foot schooner, Amberjack II, at some undetermined spot along the coast, possibly at Marblehead. The crew of the schooner for this step of the trip has not been definitely selected, although Mr. James Roosevelt will be aboard and the President will be the skipper throughout the cruise.

On June 22, the schooner and her crew is due to arrive at Portland, Me., where Franklin, jr., and another son of the President, John Roosevelt, will go aboard. The President and his party will then put out to sea again, heading for Eastport, Me., and his mother's home on Compobello Island. He expects to sight Eastport on June 28.

After spending a few days there, the Chief Executive will board the U. S. S. Indianapolis, one of the new 10,000-ton cruisers, for the return trip down the coast; and it is likely that the man-of-war will come as far up the Potomac as the depth will allow. When the Indianapolis is finally stopped, the President will tranship to a destroyer and complete his voyage to Washington.

President Roosevelt plans to remain in Washington throughout July, but he may go to his summer home at Hyde Park in August. His plans, however, are tentative.

The President yesterday afternoon received the new Minister of Persia, Ghaffar Khan Djalal, and the new Minister of Honduras, Senor Don N. Paz Baraona.

Last evening the Counselor of the Embassy and Senora de Baron entertained at dinner for Senor and Senora de Guell.

Sterling, wife of the American Minister to Ireland; Col. and Mrs. Kenyon A. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. Truxtun Beale and Miss Irene Boyle.

The Second Secretary of the German Embassy and Frau Lohmann will have with them for several days the former's brother, Herr Alfred Lohmann, who is expected to arrive in New York Thursday aboard the Europa en route to Mexico. Herr Lohmann will come to Washington immediately upon his arrival in New York and will remain in the Capital over the week-end.

The Military Attache of the Mexican Embassy, Brig. Gen. Francisco J. Aguilar, and the assistant Military Attache, Senor Teniente Don Emilio Calderon Puig, have gone to Chicago to visit the Century of Progress Exposition. They will return to the Capital in ten days.

The former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke will be joined late this month by their daughter, Miss Cora Stanton Jahncke, who is a student at the Newcomb College at New Orleans.

Mr. Stanton Jahncke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jahncke, who has been with them since the festivities of June week at Annapolis, when his brother, Ensign Ernest Lee Jahncke was graduated, has left to return to their home in New Orleans.

Mrs. O. J. Garlock, of Palmyra, N. Y., is a guest at the Mayflower while in Washington to attend the graduation of her son, Mr. Sherry B. Myers, from Georgetown University. Mrs. Morgan L. Hannahs, of Watertown, N. Y., accompanied her here and will remain in the city until Thursday.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

COMMENCEMENT DAY at West Point and the stirring and traditional graduation ceremonies will be broadcast this morning over WRC at 9:15 o'clock. The speakers will be Secretary of War George H. Dern, Assistant Secretary of War H. H. Woodring and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff. Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, superintendent of the Academy, will preside during the exercises.

"Make it harder for convicts to get paroles and bandits won't get so many pay rolls," says Dean Gleason L. Archer, law lecturer.

"Whither Are We Going?" will be answered by Col. Frank B. Knox, newspaper publisher, at the Advertising Club in Boston. (WRC, 12:30 o'clock noon.)

When Max Baer isn't fighting he is often listening to the radio, and that means that he may be tuning in one of his favorite artists, Jimmie Melton, the tenor.

Operation of the administration's public works and industry-control bill will be discussed by Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, during the National Radio Forum, over WRC, 9:30 o'clock tonight.

MONSIGNOR JAMES H. RYAN, rector of Catholic University, yesterday approved final arrangements for the Nation-wide broadcasting of the exercises tomorrow morning in connection with the conferring of an honor degree upon President Roosevelt at Catholic University.

The exercises will be carried by both the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System and will be heard in Washington at 11 o'clock over Stations WRC and WJSV. Prior to the ceremonies there will be a concert by the United States Marine Band.

Nino Martini, young Italian tenor, who has opened the doors of opera to radio artists, will receive the Columbia Medal "for distinguished contribution to the radio art" during a special broadcast heard here at 8:30 o'clock tonight over WJSV. The program will be transmitted direct from the Italian liner, S. S. Conte di Savoia, where a gala party will be given in Martini's honor.

Henry A. Bellows, Washington vice president of C. B. S., will make the award in the presence of Paul Althouse, of the Metropolitan Opera Co. and other luminaries of the radio and music worlds.

What the well-dressed woman will wear will be described during a fashion review at the Century of Progress to be broadcast over WMAL at 2:30 o'clock. Two Chicago social registerites, Mrs. Lawrence Armour and Mrs. Ford Carpenter, will discuss the daytime and evening costumes as they are displayed by the mannequins.

WAY back in radio's earliest days, when two stations constituted a "network" and any receiver other than a crystal was indisputable proof of affluence, the ether waves carried the music of Ben Bernie, heard Tuesday evenings at 8 p. m. over WRC.

"Back in 1922, when radio was a new thing, we were on the air, but nobody seemed to know it," said Ben. "I'd go to the Friars Club afterward and ask them if they'd heard the broadcast and they'd look dumb and say: 'Do those radio things actually work? My, oh, my!'

"We were on two stations; then four; then six. Say, when we got up to eighteen stations we thought we ruled the world. And now, look!

"We stayed on the air pretty regularly. And it wasn't until along about 1930 that we suddenly discovered that our stuff was 'taking.' Then we found that people had heard us. They started commenting on what we played or said. And a lot of the things that I say now are taken as brand-new—yet some of them are gags I used in 1922, '23 and '24—and dropped because nobody seemed to notice them."

When the Titanic sank, Isidor Straus, New York merchant, was urging his wife to join the other women and the children in the lifeboats before it was too late. Knowing there would be no room for him, she refused to leave his side, although she knew that to stay meant certain death.

They stood together by the deck railing, hand in hand, while the great Titanic settled deeper and deeper into the Atlantic. Before the Carpathia could reach them they, together with hundreds of others, sank with the doomed ship in one of the greatest marine tragedies in history.

The story of brave Ida Straus, mother of the Ambassador to France, will be dramatically reproduced on the "Lives at Stake" hour, broadcast tonight at 9 o'clock over WRC.

"IOLANTHE," the comic opera of Gilbert and Sullivan, will inaugurate a new schedule of broadcasts for Light Opera Gems, tonight at 9:45 o'clock, over WJSV. Future broadcasts will be heard at the same time each week.

Kate Smith will try a different type of song tonight "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah" (WJSV, 7:30 o'clock.). Kate, it is explained, has always wanted to offer a classic work over the air. Her voice range, the press agent reports, covers three and a half octaves.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Bustling along in the Division street market, one is likely to be stopped in front of a second-hand clothing store run by a clever rogue whose name might be Bells Slattervisk.

Bells has one of the most profitable trades in the neighborhood, which is quite understandable, for he operates with the finesse of a shell game promoter.

In a fire sale some months ago, Bells purchased a whole bale of cheap wallets for a price of about 2 cents each. He deposited one of these wallets in the coat pocket of every suit he had in the place.

Quick Sales.

A customer enters, and when Bells fits him into a suit he is careful to see that the coat is buttoned tight enough so that the prospective purchaser feels the wallet bulging in the pocket.

Thinking the former owner has forgotten the wallet, the fellow, nine times out of ten, will make an immediate purchase of the suit and wear it away. Once outside he discovers the wallet is empty.

Of course, the scheme isn't conducive to bringing customers back, but these second-hand stores rarely win return customers, anyway.

Sharp-Tongued Deb.

A blue-eyed, baby-faced debutante boasts the unique fame of being one of the most destructive critics at the little tea and toast parties in the drawing rooms of Sutton place. So bitter are her comments that her entrance in a drawing room is a signal for a dozen or more of the guests to depart.

At one such shindig the other afternoon, a woman acquaintance greeted her with: "I feel terrible. I've had only two hours' sleep."

"I can't believe it, my dear," retorted her annoyer. "You look as if you had only one hour."

As a famous, but middle-aged dramatic star entered the room, she observed: "She looks like an old prop from 'Florodora.'"

When a gray-haired dowager, probably excited by an extra cup of colong, began acting a trifle kittenish, the deb squelched her with, "Darling, stop acting like a half-wit on a slack wire."

Forty-second street and Broadway is known as the corner of peering faces. They are the anxious sweethearts waiting there for their boy friends; husbands waiting for wives. It is the most popular corner in Manhattan for people to meet each other.

That famous song-writing trio of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson is now completely broken up. All three of the boys have gone their separate ways. They wrote something like fifteen musical comedies and all of them were financial successes.

THE MEANDERER

Recommends Special Containers for Icing Foods; Ideal Wardrobe Trunk and Luggage Ensemble.

Chilling of food can be done effectively only when the food may be surrounded in ice when served. A set of three types of glasses for serving cold foods, together with the ice containers which are adaptable to any of the three sorts of glasses,—four dozen pieces in all, of sparkling crystal without decoration—seems to the Meanderer to be a splendid value for $12. The glasses include tomato cocktails, sea food cocktails and sherbet glasses, any of which fit into well-shaped ice containers of matching crystal. The glasses are from open stock in a Connecticut avenue shop of reliability. Wedding gift shoppers will do well to see this adaptable gift, which is practical as well as attractive.

Wedding journey luggage that has smartness as well as economy may well be of woven, striped canvas. The authority on luggage of all kinds who sells this canvas luggage assured the Meanderer that it is more durable than 90 per cent of leather luggage. A large Pullman bag for wearing apparel in general, a smaller, squarish bag for hats, and a commodious shoe bag compose the canvas luggage ensemble, the three pieces offered for $30. The striped canvas will have definite value in a trip abroad, where passengers can not rely on a checking system but must identify their luggage.

Individual breakfast sets for $7.50 may be assembled from charming patterns in open stock in a Connecticut avenue china shop. Sets for two persons for breakfast assembled in this manner will cost $9.50. Other individual breakfast sets in plain blue, pink or green china are attractive, also, but will cost more than the patterned china. If the shoppers like they can add to the breakfast sets from the open stock to form dinner sets. Several sprigged patterns in the breakfast sets will fit admirably into the dining rooms in maple or early American furnishings. One old English pattern known as the "Printemps" is one the Meanderer admired particularly.

The wardrobe trunk ideal seems to have everything, even an ironing board and an asbestos corner meant just for the iron, and a hat box that may be made small or large, according to the size of the travelers' hats. This trunk is covered with woven stripe canvas, and harmonizes with the ensemble of three bags mentioned above. A feature of this trunk is that it may be locked completely on the inside without it being necessary to close the trunk for locking.

A midget portable typewriter for $14.75 may be the graduation gift some shoppers have been hunting.

A razor that can not cut, that requires no complementary soapsuds or towels, is an electric razor, selling for much more than most razors, but undoubtedly worth its price. Travelers should appreciate the tricky electric barbering device.

Bathroom bottles that may be marked to suit the purchaser may be helpful suggestions for gifts for newlyweds. Bathroom glass ensembles may be made from the elaborate showing of such luxuries on the shelves of a Connecticut avenue shop.

A highball tray, alcohol proof, is fitted with racks for eight glasses and four bottles. The tray is $6 and may be fitted with glasses from a large stock of beverage glasses. Highball partakers should like the thistle etching on highball glasses.

SQUEEZING AN EXPOSED CARD.

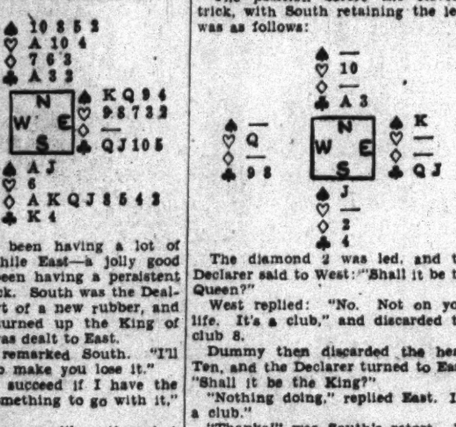
SOUTH, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



South had been having a lot of good luck, while East—a jolly good fellow—had been having a persistent run of bad luck. South was the Dealer at the start of a new rubber, and accidentally turned up the King of Spades as it was dealt to East.

"Keep it," remarked South. "I'll do my best to make you lose it."

"You won't succeed if I have the luck to get something to go with it," replied East.

The reader can readily gather that this game was not played for blood, as are some games at the Contract table, but was one in which the spirit of good fellowship took precedence over the rules.

South completed the deal, picked up his hand, and made a preemptive bid of five diamonds. West, of course, passed, and North studied his hand a long time and finally bid seven diamonds, later explaining when he put down his Dummy:

"If you can bid five, knowing the spade King is against you, and without two Aces, then, as I hold those Aces, surely I can raise you to seven."

East doubled the bid of seven, with the remark:

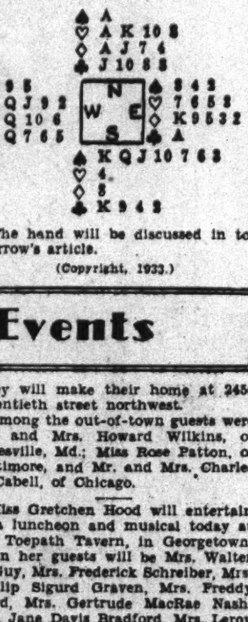
"I don't mind telling you I have something to go with that King."

West's Opening lead was the heart King, which was won with the Ace in Dummy.

The Declarer, as he now realized, held one loser—namely, the spade Knave. There was no chance to dispose of this loser by trumping it out or discarding it on a good card in Dummy. The only chance lay in a squeeze. If West could be forced to save the high heart and East forced to save the high spade, the play might succeed.

The Declarer, after taking the first trick, took two rounds of trumps, played the spade Ace and the club King, proceeded to lay down five more rounds of diamonds, and kept saying to West, "Hold that Queen," and to East, "Hold that King."

The position before the eleventh trick, with South retaining the lead, was as follows:



The diamond 2 was led, and the Declarer said to West: "Shall it be the Queen?"

West replied: "No. Not on your life. It's a club," and discarded the club 8.

Dummy then discarded the heart Ten, and the Declarer turned to East: "Shall it be the King?"

"Nothing doing," replied East. It's a club."

"Thanks!" was South's retort. He then led the club 4, and won with the Ace. The club 3 caught East's spade King and West's heart Queen, making the doubled Grand Slam.

Sometimes it seems to pay to expose an honor in dealing.

Of course, as you undobtedly know, the exposure of the spade King automatically made a misdeal; but as the point was waived by everyone, there is nothing in particular to say about it.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

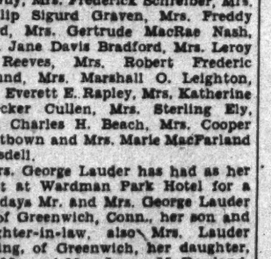
If South opens the bidding with four spades, what response, if any, should North make, and what is the proper play of the hand?

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

STEAK IS GRAND SLAM IN FOODS FOR CELEBRATING FATHER'S DAY

By ANN BARRETT

HOW to pay your regards on Father's Day—next Sunday? Well, give neckties or slippers if you will. But give him a beefsteak, too. Serve it up thick, juicy, puddled with butter, and banked up with fried onions or mushrooms. Team it up with a big bowl of French fries, crisp as crisp. Round out the scene with a dish of fresh peas, asparagus, string beans or broiled tomatoes.

And finish the whole thing off with a good old-fashioned strawberry shortcake.

If that doesn't make papa a celebration (and the rest of the family, too) then Christmas comes every day and there isn't any Fourth of July at all.

Beefsteak Brings Men Home.

Women like beefsteak, of course (Ruth Chatterton, for one, dotes on it with a sort of lemony-butter sauce). But men go for it with open gusto. I have it from Mrs. Ely Culbertson steak is the one dish that can take her husband's mind off his cards. And I have it from explorer Herbert Spencer Dickey that thoughts of a good, juicy steak beckon him back time and again from the wilds of South America.

As I've put it before—beefsteak brings men home!

Choosing Important.

If it's a good beefsteak. And that's as much a matter of choosing as it is cooking. The most tender steaks are tenderloin, porterhouse, club (or Delmonico), and sirloin. Of these, many folks hold the flavor of sirloin best of all. But even this cut won't have the finest flavor unless it has a mottling of fat through the lean as well as fat 'round the edge. Don't eat the fat if you don't like it. But it must be there to bolster up the lean. Case of cooperation.

Another point: Have your steak cut not less than one inch thick. Two inches, if you like. This thickness is to prevent the steak from drying out.

Cook It Quickly.

As for cooking beefsteak—quick is the trick for preserving the juice and fresh flavor. That means having your beefsteak rare or medium. By the time you've cooked one of the tender cuts well done—through and through—you've really spoiled it. If you like well-done meat, buy a less expensive cut of steak and smother it or do it Swiss or Spanish style. But that's another story (in my recipe bulletin).

The way to proceed with a tender steak is this: Trim off excess fat. Have broiler (or frying pan) heated very hot—before ever you put steak in. Grease it with bit of steak fat just enough so steak won't stick. With flame on full and the steak about 3 inches away from it, brown it—maybe one minute on each side. Then reduce flame to medium and (for a steak 1½ inches thick) continue broiling about seven minutes on each side for "steak medium." Use less time if the steak is thinner or you like it rare. Since tastes vary and steaks vary and no two women manipulate the flame alike, it's impossible to state cooking time exactly.

As for the time of seasoning, salting meat while cooking has a tendency to toughen it and draw out juices, but there are those who maintain (I'm one of them) that a sprinkle of salt and pepper cooked into steak seasons it better than any after-sprinkles possibly can.

Savory Butter.

At any rate, once your steak is seasoned and resting proudly on a hot platter, there can be no doubt about it—this is a swell something to spread over it. Make it up before you cook your steak, set it in refrigerator to ripen 30 minutes or so, then bring it out to soften while steak is cooking. Here it is: ¼ cup butter worked soft and mixed with 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon parsley, 1 tablespoon minced chive or onion.

Sure-Hit French Fries.

For French fries that are a little more trouble but will make the whole family rise up and call you blessed, here are the tricks: First, measure 1 quart peeled potatoes cut into eighths (or fancy shapes, but not too small). Let these stand in cold water one hour. Then put them on fire with one teaspoon salt in two cups boiling water. Cook two minutes, drain, plunge into cold water, drain again. Dry thoroughly. Then fry (few at a time) in deep fat hot enough to brown cube of bread in 60 seconds (370 F.). Fry only to very delicate brown. When all potatoes are fried, increase heat of fat to point where it will brown bread in 40 seconds (395). Return all the potatoes to the fat, and cook till brown and crisp, giving the kettle a shake to keep potatoes turning about. Then drain them on paper, sprinkle with salt and serve at once. By this method, the potatoes are crisp but tender and piping hot.

Send for More Steak Recipes.

More ways to hit the mark with steak and steak side-dishes are all laid out in my new bulletin, "Steaks and Steak Dinners." It tells how to choose steak according to the size of your family. How to make smothered round steak, Swiss steak, Spanish steak and other steak dishes. How to fry mushrooms, broil tomatoes, French-fry onions.

"GEMINI."

IF JUNE 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:55 a. m. to 10:10 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:10 p. m., and from 9:20 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:40 a. m., and from 5:10 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

The child born on this June 13 will be a child of considerable physical attractiveness. You will find this little one a favorite both with the old people and with those of his own age. A friendly nature, a trusting attitude toward all and a willingness to pitch in and do his share will win him many friends.

If June 13 is the date of your birth you are more than likely quite a different person in your home than you are out of it. In the privacy of your home you are inclined to be domineering, self-willed, cranky at times and demanding. Among friends you are quite the reverse. You put your best foot forward, you strive to please all, you are considerate and thoughtful and you maintain an even disposition.

Born on June 13, you have many fine qualities that you have not developed. You must learn that "character" must be considered as much as material advancement. You are not a religious person, nor do you interest yourself in the work of any organization. You read a good deal, but your taste needs cultivation; mystery stories and other so-called popular types of literature appeal to you more than books of a serious nature.

Successful people born on June 13: Francis Dana, statesman and jurist. Winfield Scott, soldier. John P. K. Henshaw, P. E. Bishop, of Milwaukee.

CURTIS' DAUGHTER TO RECEIVE ESTATE

Bequests Made to Others of Family in Publisher's Will Just Probated.

Philadelphia, June 12 (A.P.).—Cyrus H. K. Curtis, noted publisher, left the bulk of his estate to his daughter, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, including the income of his vast publishing interests which were placed in trust.

The will, filed for probate at Norristown, Pa., today, made no charitable gifts.

It was explained that "such provisions as I have cared to make for charitable and educational purposes, I have taken care of by gifts made during my lifetime in order that such institutions as I have been interested in might have the benefit of such gifts during my lifetime instead of being obliged to wait until my death."

Mr. Curtis, who died Wednesday in his eighty-third year, gave many millions to charitable and educational institutions in Philadelphia and other cities.

The will also stated that he had made adequate provisions for relatives not mentioned in the instrument.

Mr. Curtis named seven trustees for his stock in the Curtis Publishing Co., the Public Ledger Co. and Curtis-Martin Newspapers, Inc.

Helen P. Wells and Alice P. Martin, stepdaughters, receive $100,000 each; each grandchild $50,000 upon reaching the age of 25 years; Harriet L. Cutter, of Pasadena, Calif., his wife's sister, $10,000; Mabel Piper, Mrs. Curtis' cousin, $5,000, and each servant or household employe with 10 years' service, $100 for each year.

Stocks Continue Advances Under Rail and Utility Lead

Average Gain of 3.2 Points Recorded on Sale of 5,811,960 Shares.

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—Financial markets were generally strong today. Stocks held the spotlight, with many gains of 1 to 8 points.

Dollar depreciation, trade recovery and the drive of Congress toward adjournment were leading influences on price movements. The dollar's strenuous career in foreign exchange trading offered possibilities for much conjecture as to probable stabilization levels, a matter which has already received the attention of experts gathered at London. Sterling ran up 4 cents to above $4.18, more than canceled its rise and then firmed again, closing nearly 2 cents higher.

Stocks were somewhat hesitant for a time in the morning, but strong group demonstrations in utilities and rails made it clear that bullish psychology, whether dominated by inflationary prospects or trade improvement—or both—still had the upper hand. Shorts, who had sold on the theory that the market was getting top-heavy, were badly pinched, especially in American Telephone, which jumped 8¼ net to 131½.

National Distillers, Allied Chemical, United Fruit, Case and Detroit Edison jumped 4 to more than 5. U. S. Steel, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Columbia Gas, Corn Products, North American, Delaware & Hudson and Du Pont were up 3 or thereabouts. Bethlehem Youngstown Sheet, Kennecott, Anaconda, Harvester, American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, International Telephone, United Corporation and a broad assortment of rails were up 1 to 2. Sales totaled 5,811,960 shares.

Meanwhile, the business pendulum appears to have not yet reached the limit of its swing. Total freight loadings of the Santa Fe and Chesapeake & Ohio systems last week continued above a year ago, though the former's "loadings on own line" were a shade below 1932. A steel review estimated ingot production at 48 per cent of capacity, a rate which even the optimists probably did not envision a couple of months ago.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was inclined to be somewhat quieter today pending results of the war debt and world economic conference deliberations. Transatlantic issues were the most active and prices hardened with a large turnover recorded. Gilt-edged securities drooped on lack of support while industrials and gold mining shares were also easy owing to realizations. The market closed undecided.

Paris—Prices on the bourse held steady awaiting developments at the world economic conference. Gold mining and oil shares improved while rentes, with the exception of the 3 per cent issues, declined slightly. The closing was sustained.

Berlin—The tone of the boerse was unsettled today.

CURB IN NEW HIGHS UNDER UTILITY LEAD

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—The Curb Market pushed up into new high ground today despite some early uncertainty among specialties. Prices closed near their top levels, encouraged by a strong finish in utilities, which had been in accumulation during most of the earlier trading.

Trading was again in heavy volume, approximating 1,328,000 shares, compared with 1,200,000 last Friday.

Cotton Mill Activity Reaches Highest Level Since 1926-7

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—Domestic cotton mill activity is now at the highest level in several years and compares favorably with the all-time record high established in the winter of 1926-27, the New York Cotton Exchange Service reported today.

"With very large orders for goods on hand with stocks of goods at the mills very low, it is expected that mill activity will continue very high through the summer, even allowing for some contraction of activity through organization of the industry under the industrial recovery bill," said the statement.

"It appears probable that world consumption of American cotton this season will be around 13,800,000 to 14,000,000 bales, compared with 12,506,000 last season, 11,113,000 two seasons ago, 13,021,000 three seasons ago and 15,226,000 four seasons ago."

BONDS CLOSE HIGHER AFTER EARLY DROPS

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—After some uneasiness in early transactions, the bond market was given a welcome lift today by the sharp rallies of some rails and utilities.

The upward movement was not unanimous, however, and a number of issues drifted fractionally lower. The trading pace slowed down considerably, sales totaling only $13,103,000, par value, or around $2,000,000 under last Friday's aggregate.

United States Government securities were quiet and fairly firm. German government 5½s and 7s recovered 1½ and 2 points, respectively. Gains of 1 to around 3 or more were held by obligations of France, Australia, Brazil, Chile, Norway and Uruguay.

WHEAT VALUES RISE TO NEW HIGH LEVELS

Records of 2 Years Broken in Late Trading; Other Grains Advance.

Chicago, June 12 (A.P.).—Wheat and oats prices flew upward today to fresh high records unequaled for more than two years.

The burst of strength in both grains came in the late trading and was largely associated with jumps shown in securities. There were new reports also of crop damage, especially in soft wheat areas east of the Mississippi River, and it was announced Secretary Wallace would state on Friday the policy to be adopted by the Department of Agriculture in administering recent farm legislation.

Wheat at New High.

All deliveries of wheat reached new high prices for the season. The gains were scored notwithstanding that earlier the market trend was downward as a result of cooler weather and of moisture in scattered districts. Bearish effects of the break in the heat wave, were more or less offset, however, by indications that temperatures would rise again, starting tomorrow.

Rallies began after the wheat market had fallen about a cent a bushel. Reports from east of the Mississippi said high temperatures and drying winds had caused soil to bake and crack, catching wheat in the critical stage of bloom and dough.

The Kansas State grain inspector was also quoted as saying Kansas was facing one of its worst crop failures. Russian reports told of five consecutive weeks of excessive rainfall in Ukrainia and the Valley of the Don affecting more than 15,000,000 acres of wheat land.

Corn was inclined to lag on account of large receipts of low grade corn here, and because of more than 3,000,000 bushels increase of the corn visible supply. Oats reflected crop damage advices.

Provisions declined as a result of selling for profits.

October Sells at 9.62 as the General Market Gains 9 to 16 Points.

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—An opening advance in cotton today met a good deal of realizing, but it was readily absorbed and after selling off from 9.58 to 9.41 October advanced to 9.66 in the late trading on buying stimulated by strength in the stock market.

October closed at 9.62, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 9 to 16 points.

Initial prices were 4 to 9 points higher in response to relatively firm cables and reports of heavy domestic mill consumption during May.

Wall Street Buying.

Wall street buying was reported on the advance which carried July up to 9.40 and December to 9.80 in the late trading, or within 2 or 3 points of the best prices touched by these positions at the peak of the recent bull movement.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service estimated domestic consumption for May at 635,000 bales compared with 553,000 for May last year. It appears probable, according to this authority, that world's consumption of American for the season will be around 13,800,000 to 14,000,000 bales.

CONCEPTION SCHOOL GIVES 20 DIPLOMAS

Rev. John Keating Cartwright Delivers Address to Class of Girls.

Commencement exercises of the Immaculate Conception High School for Girls were held last night at the school auditorium. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, awarded diplomas and medals to 20 graduates, who had completed a four-year academic and commercial course at the school.

The Rev. John Keating Cartwright gave the address. The Immaculate Conception Aluminae Award for General Excellence was given to Miss Marcella Virginia Markward. The Shrugrue Memorial Award for Religion was merited by Miss Josephine Patricia Dalton, the Ellen A. Fraber Memorial for History was given to Miss Josephine Wilhelmina Hillyard, and the Commercial Award was given to Miss Frances Stasia Crory.

Diplomas Are Awarded.

The young ladies receiving diplomas were: Alice Jeanne Aston, Frances Stasia Crory, Josephine Patricia Dalton, Loretto Catherine Driscoll, Mary Pauline Hellmuth, Josephine Wilhelmina Hillyard, Isabella Rita Horner, Elizabeth Ann Klein, Josephine Amelia Klein, Mildred Julia Loveless, Rita Jane Loveless, Mary Jane McCarthy, Theresa Maria McCarthy, Anna Maurice McDonnell, Marcella Virginia Markward, Helen Martha Guigg, Concelia Ann Ricucci, Loretto Elizabeth Rohrkemper, Agnes Mary Townsend and Ada Theresa Woulfe.

Father Cartwright said in part: "The fundamental advantage of the education which these diplomas represent, is of course, the inestimable one of Catholic belief and Catholic training, but in addition to this you have been trained in the finest traditions of civilization and of culture. Your future lies amidst conditions which will in all probability be considerably different from those in which your forbears have lived.

"Danger in Leisure."

"According to all prognostications it seems assured that the coming generation will enjoy much more leisure than has ever previously been the lot of any but the few. There is a danger in leisure. Moral danger on the one side and on the other side the danger of using leisure shabbily and cheaply. This latter danger is exemplified in a great deal of the social life in which you are about to be immersed. The increasing number, however, of those who go forth each year provided with a splendid cultural equipment gives reason to hope that you and many like you will have power to raise the prevailing standards and make the world a better and nobler place to live in."

The Immaculate Conception High School for Girls was established in 1865 and is taught by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

Big Feet

Forestry Corps Orders 2 Pairs of Shoes Size 15½ EE.

Many Southern papers have been carrying a picture from Fort Bragg, N. C., showing "Jim" Scott, Ashe County, North Carolina, considerably over 7 feet tall, as the "biggest" man in the Civilian Conservation Corps, and "Bob" Johnston, Shelby, N. C., who has several inches to grow before he reaches 8 feet, as the smallest man in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Now comes the following telegram to headquarters Fourth Corps Area, Fort McPherson, Ga., from Fort Screven, Ga.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

A FEW rounds of showshop shrapnel shot at you in staccato shellfire:

The Children's Theater of New York, which closed its first Washington season with a successful performance of "Little Women" in April, is to return to the National Capital with a new series of six plays at the National Theater, beginning in October.

Of the six plays chosen for the new series, three—"Cinderella," "Five Little Peppers" and "An Old-Fashioned Girl"—were the leaders in a ballot taken in the audience at the last performance this season at the National, while the other three were also decidedly popular with the children of that audience. The exact schedule for next season will be:

October 21, "Five Little Peppers," by Margaret Sidney; November 25, "Curdie, the Princess and the Goblins," by George MacDonald; December 28, "Cinderella;" February 3, "An Old-Fashioned Girl," by Louisa M. Alcott; March 10, "Rip Van Winkle," by Washington Irving; April 28, "The King of the Golden River," by John Ruskin.

Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. Henry A. Wallace and Mrs. William A. Woodin are among the patronesses of the series.

Bert Adler, one of the best known of the veteran publicists who have grown up with the film business, was a week-end visitor in town in connection with the Press Club world premiere of "This Is America," a pictorial history of the United States since the Great War. My first meeting with Bert, as I recall it, was shortly after the Indian wars. He is a very elegant fellow.

Plans are under way for the staging of another of those typical "Hollywood permeers" in conjunction with first Washington presentations of "College Humor," at Loew's Palace Theater this Friday night. This is the production with Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Jack Oakie, Burns & Allen, Mary Carlisle, Lona Andre and scores of others, that inspired Paramount and Station WJSV to put on the hunt for a new Bing Crosby among Washington crooners. The station already is being inundated with letters. Auditions will be conducted in the studio in the Shoreham Building tonight at 7:30, with Ted Church, of CBS; Eddie Corcoran, of Paramount, and Lou Brown, of Loew's Fox, three lads who can croon you out of more free space than any trio in the world, as judges.

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler, who, as of course you know, in private life is Mrs. Jolson—as well as being one of the hits of "Gold Diggers of 1933," now packing them in at the Earle—although they live a great deal of the time on the West Coast, where both are looked upon as screen aces, have never "gone Hollywood." Instead of living in a mansion on a hilltop, with handball courts and bathing pools in the backyard, they occupy a hotel apartment in the downtown section of Los Angeles proper, and have never attended what is popularly known as a "Hollywood party". Can y'imagine!

Speaking of "Gold Diggers" packing them in, attendance at the Earle, so far, has run consistently ahead of the records hung up, day by day, by "42nd Street," which, you will remember, had the advantage of Inauguration crowds to boost business. On last Friday the real opening day, one of the hottest days of the thirties or any other year, "Gold Diggers" played to approximately 600 more people than its predecessor. This is typical of the record it is compiling in all of the cities where it is being shown. It deserves it by every right of high merit and swell entertainment.

One reason "Gold Diggers" is going over so well here is that it is being screened with rare showmanship. I mean, three sizes of screen are being employed to do the film's spectacular qualities fullest justice. Most of the footage is thrown on the regular 19-foot silver sheet. For parts of the "In the Shadows" waltz number, however, a 24-foot breadth of screen is being used, and in the final "Forgotten Man" number the full 30-foot width of the wide-angle screen is utilized to give this rousing bit of musical pageantry the full sweep and power it requires for overwhelming dramatic and pictorial effect. All this necessitates frequent changes of lenses and skillful operation of the machines in the projection booth.

Old Col. Harry Long, district manager for Loew's, Inc., a thoroughly schooled showman well known in the Capital, is digging his heels into the glistening surface of City Manager Carter Barron's highly polished desk, while Mr. Barron is making a flying visit to his home in Atlanta. The brief respite began last Friday and will end next. Mrs. Barron, "Chick" to you, will remain in Atlanta until about the first of July. Mr. Long will remain at Mr. Barron's desk until about the first chance he has to duck out!

Although Mr. Edward de Star Melcher, no longer ago than last Saturday at Mr. Jolson's breakfast party, threatened this typewriter with physical violence because it was suggested that he might be going to Annapolis that afternoon to act in "Anchors Aweigh," instead of merely to observe a few big shots from Hollywood in action, it is reported on magnificent authority that when the Pierce Hall Players put on Mr. Melcher's "Little White Mice" sometime next month, he will be seen as one of its leading actors as well as its author. All of which, I shouldn't wonder, makes my sock in the nose practically certain!

Speaker Rainey, as revealed in the current issue of the Fox Movietone News, must be numbered among the solons who rate A-1 as camera and microphone subjects. His timing and diction are perfect, he knows what he wants to say, and says it, and photographs like a Lewis S. Stone! Perhaps—and I wouldn't know about this—he has been saving up his talents for just such a Rainey day!

Beginning Friday night, Earle P. Mossman, the veteran vaudevillian and musical comedy star, who is acting as master of ceremonies at the Villa Roma, out on the Rockville pike, will present Princess Bolea, one of the better dancers, as the featured artist of his floor show. Earle will probably team with her for a revival of at least one of the old numbers they used to do when they were partners on the stage.

Ashton Stevens, one of Chicago's foremost drama critics, suggests that portraits of players and playwrights decorate a new issue of United States currency. He would allot the denominations in this fashion: $50, Edwin Booth; $20, Katharine Cornell; $10, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne; $5, Ina Claire; $2, Eugene O'Neill; $1 bill, William Gillette, George M. Cohan or George S. Kaufman; silver $1, Ethel Barrymore; 50c, McIntyre and Heath; 25c, Phil Baker; 10c, Lenore Ulric; 5c, Texas Guinan.

A few repercussions of a recent suggestion that not every scene in "India Speaks," coming to RKO-Keith's, is absolutely authentic, by Mr. Richard Halliburton's own confession on the sound track, have been exploding about my head these past few days—which simply goes to prove the truth of an old saw reset:

Truth is no stranger to friction!

By NELSON B. BELL.

Those who seek some authentic insight into the baffling psychic phenomena credited to those born with an occult and intuitive perception into past, present and future, will find little here to engage their interest.

If a bald disclosure of the shoddy deceptions practiced by an itinerant charlatan and congenital faker may be looked upon as fruitful source of drama, however, "The Mind Reader" will be found prolific in revelations which to many, no doubt, will prove startling.

There is no mind reading in "The Mind Reader," in other words, but there is a frank expose of what passes for actual telepathy about the cheap carnival lots, medicine show pitches and Mexican border honky-tonks. It is all etched in broad strokes and played by an imposing cast in an appropriately exaggerated tempo and spirit of gusto—crude impulses and emotions, executed without need of, or attempt at, either finesse of delicacy.

Warren William appears in the title role and gets well away from the impeccable sort of thing with which he has been so much identified on the screen. His inseparable sidekick is Allen Jenkins, who finally gets a job as chauffeur to the rich in New York and induces his old boss to emerge from a penurious retirement and take up the old swindle. This he does, unknown to the small-town girl he has married, and by whom he has been "reformed," with tragic results for all concerned. The picture fades out on his voluntary submission to the penalties of his sins.

Constance Cummings is the girl in the case and appears to advantage in a role that places no great demand upon her talents. Natalie Moorhead, Mayo Methot, Ruthelma Stevens, Earle Foxe and Clarence Muse are among numerous others who are conspicuously cast.

The program is completed by one of Mack Sennett's most splashy custard-pie comedies, "Sweet Cookie," with Marjorie Beebe and Franklin Pangborn—shame on them both!—a Lyman H. Howe "Hodge-Podge," of usual diversity, and the Paramount Sound News.

Marylander's Back Is Broken by Dive

Believed to have hit a tree stump when he dived in shallow water, William Williford, 47, of Riverdale Heights, Md., was taken to Providence Hospital yesterday suffering from a fracture of the spine.

Williford, seeking relief from the noonday heat, went to "the old swimming hole," a wide and supposedly deep spot in Northeastern Branch, East Riverdale. Here he met a large crowd of men and boys, residents of the vicinity, bent on the same mission.

All went well until Williford attempted to dive from a wooden bridge at the upper end of the pond. The dive was made from a height of 6 feet into 4 feet of water. Under the water he collided with what is thought to have been a tree stump. Floating to the surface unconscious, he was dragged to the shore by his companions. At Providence Hospital, where he was taken by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, he was said to have a fracture of the spine. Both legs and arms were paralyzed and his condition was said to be serious.

Late last week there was a sale of 24,500 bags of Cuban for June shipment at 3.46; a decline of 2 points for spots. It was believed more could be had at the same level, but buyers were inclined to hold off. Futures were easy during the forenoon, under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. July contracts after selling at 1.42 declined to 1.40, while March declined from 1.37 to 1.35. The market at noon showed net losses of 3 to 4 points. Refined was unchanged at 4.60.

Alcohol Control Will Be Placed

"Buck passing" between the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol and the Prohibition Bureau will be ended under the proposed reorganization, Attorney General Cummings pointed out yesterday in discussing the merits of the plan.

The issuance of permits for the manufacture of beer has been a constant source of friction between the two bureaus, Mr. Cummings said, because of the divided responsibility. Under the reorganization the permit activities of the Prohibition Bureau will be turned over to the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol, which will become a part of the new Internal Revenue division of the Treasury. At the same time the investigating functions of the Prohibition Bureau will be turned over to the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

The effect of this change, Mr. Cummings pointed out, will be to abolish the Prohibition Bureau. "The personnel of the bureau, or as much of it as wanted, can still be utilized," he said. He explained, however, that agents of the Prohibition Bureau had not been originally selected by the same standards as governed the employes of the Bureau of Investigation. The names of the heads and assistant heads of the Bureau of Investigation and the prohibition activity under it will not be announced for several weeks, he said.

Vandenberg Holds Howe Erred on Air

(Associated Press.)

Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, said in the Senate yesterday that Louis M. Howe, Secretary to President Roosevelt, had given erroneous information about home loan bonds in a speech Sunday night.

Vandenberg, calling Howe's speech "the second of his $1,500 broadcasts," said that it was incorrect to call the proposed $2,000,000,000 home loan bonds just as good as any other Federal bond.

Reminding colleagues that the home loan bill provided only that the Government guaranteed the 4 per centum annual interest, Vandenberg said:

"If it took a minute of the time of the colonel and his troupe, this information was $100 worth of misinformation."

He previously had said Howe got $1,500 for the talk.

"It is $100 worth of misinformation so far as the colonel is concerned," Vandenberg said, "but it may be many millions as far as the country is concerned."

G. W. Summer School Registration Fee Waived

To accommodate members of the staffs of Government departments, George Washington University will waive the late fee for registration for the summer sessions until after Thursday, it was announced by Dr. Robert Whitney Bolwell, dean of the Summer School.

Dean Bolwell also announced that employes of the Government who are not yet certain of remaining in Washington, but who plan to take summer courses if they remain, may register now and attend classes, withdrawing later without penalty.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Gasoline—The Midwest wholesale market is said to be reflecting heavy buying by refiners. Low octane gasoline is quoted 2½@2¾ cents a gallon at Tulsa, up ½ cent from recent levels.

Wool—Receipts of domestic wool at Boston last week amounted to 5,582,400 pounds, compared with 3,108,300 pounds in the previous week. Receipts for the season totaled 53,712,500 pounds, against 37,182,900 for the same period last season.

Rayon—World production for the first quarter of the current year is estimated at 63,620 metric tons in the quarterly survey of the industry by the British Rayon Record. This is a decrease of 3,300 tons from the preceding quarter, but approximately 5,000 tons higher than the first quarter of 1932.

Paper—Trade sources say that demand continues to improve, particularly in the fine paper classes.

GRIFFITH SAYS NATS WILL STAND PAT IN FLAG RACE

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

BIG GAWGE EARNSHAW, the Rip Van Winkle of the dugouts, is doing penance with such diligence that Connie Mack is ready to lift the 10-day suspension on scheduled time tomorrow night.

Earnshaw's feat of snoring through the cannonading of 21 runs by the Yankees and Athletics the other day when Manager Mack was frantically looking for a relief pitcher, qualified him to indorse the insomnia ads, but earned him a $500 fine along with his suspension.

But he has seen the error of his ways, according to the correspondents with the Philadelphia Club, and has already whipped himself back into condition at Shibe Park. He took a turn on the hill in batting practice on Saturday and his mates weren't even able to graze his fast ball for a foul. He'll start Saturday's game for the A's in Boston.

Sock Is Keynote This Year.

For the first time in years, the Nats have a team able to slug it out with the opposition. The time-honored Washington custom of winning the close ones with superior pitching and a tight defense is obsolete. Sock is the keynote this season and pure, unadulterated sock has put them and kept them within shouting distance of the Yanks.

No other club can present the same hitting front that Washington brings to bear in its first six batters. Myer, Manush, Goslin, Cronin, Schulte and Kuhel. There's a line-up that causes opposing twirlers to bear down and keep bearing down on their own good health. And following them, Ossie Bluege and Luke Sewell are not to be trifled with. It's a new deal for the Nats.

A Human Nature All Their Own.

Ball players have a human nature distinctly their own. They'll go up to the plate, strike out all afternoon, and come back to the bench vowing that the pitcher had nothing on the ball.

Goose Goslin hit a home run in Boston the other day. It was a fast ball, shoulder high. The Goose was set for it. He reached up with his bat slightly and put all the power in the Goslin shoulders behind his swing. The ball had whiskers on it as it shot out over the infield on a terrific line to dead center.

Shortstop Bill Werber made a futile leap for it. But the ball lost none of its low trajectory. It sailed on out into centerfield on a dead line and landed in the bleachers with a crack that was heard in the press box. The hardest wallop hit by a Washington player this season.

"Quite a wallop, Goose," I said to Goslin after the game.

Goslin shook his head. "I wish I had hit it right," he said.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

There have been some unkind enough to note that the Cincinnati Reds have been doing very well for themselves since Manager Donie Bush took sick . . . those who know Monte Weaver say his sore arm is more mental than physical . . . One-a-day Roy Johnson, the Red Sox outfielder, marred his record when he dropped two flies in the ninth inning against the Yanks Sunday . . . Bob Johnson, his brother, who plays left field for the A's, showed traces of the Johnson strain the way he played Manush's drive to left field Sunday . . . but he looks like the better ball player . . . Secretary Ed Eynon of the Nats refused a request for a special box for the players' wives at Griffith Stadium . . . in an effort to keep harmony on the club . . . scatter the wives, is his theory.

14 Americans In British Open

Sarazen, '32 Champ, Heads List; Ryder Members to Play.

Britons Have Lost Own Tourney Since 1923.

LONDON, June 12 (A.P.).—A near record field of 287 and a record foreign entry of 34, including 14 leading United States amateurs and professionals, today was announced for the British open golf championship, to be played at St. Andrews, Scotland, July 3-7.

Gene Sarazen, defending champion, who won the British crown at Sandwich last year with the record total of 283, heads the United States delegation with other members of the Ryder Cup team captained by Walter Hagen, four times British champion.

The other members of the cup team are Ed Dudley, Craig Wood, Densmore Shute, Paul Runyan, Horton Smith, Olin Dutra and Leo Diegel, while the free-lance American entrants are Johnny Farrell, United States open champion in 1928; Joe Kirkwood, Australian-born American professional; George T. Dunlap, jr., former American intercollegiate titleholder; Joseph Esar, of Waco, Tex., and Joshua Crane, of Brookline, Mass.

The United States amateur champion, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, heads a Canadian delegation of three, including his London, Ontario, clubmate, Jack Nash, and Don Anderson, of St. Thomas.

France nominated 10, Spain 6, and Argentina, New Zealand, Denmark, Egypt and the far corners of the British Empire sent the others. J. Cruickshank, of Buenos Aires, is the only South American aspirant for the title.

The open will be contested this year under the same conditions as previously, with two qualifying rounds of 18 holes each on July 3 and 4, the low 100 and ties to begin the tournament proper on July 5, and with the field further narrowed to the 60 leaders and ties for the final 36 holes on Friday, July 7.

The British have not won their title since 1923, when Arthur Havers led the field at Troon. Since then, Hagen and Bob Jones each has won three times, and Jim Barnes, Tommy Armour and Sarazen once each.

Although the official entry list failed to include the names of Billy Burke, picked Sunday for the Ryder Cup Team, and MacDonald Smith, veteran Scottish-born professional of Great Neck, N. Y., both players have filed entries for the tournament and will sail with the U. S. Cup Team Thursday.

It was believed their entries will be accepted.

U. S. Ryder Golf Team Plays Amateurs Today

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—Even though the ranks of the Ryder Cup Team no longer include the national open champion, peace has settled over the warring factions and the picked squad of ten American professionals will sail harmoniously for England this week and the international series with the British.

The team will have its final workout against a metropolitan amateur side, led by Jess Sweetser, tomorrow at the Metropolis Club, White Plains, and will be entertained at a farewell dinner Wednesday night before boarding the Aquitania. The Ryder Cup matches are scheduled June 26-27 at Southport.

In addition to Sarazen, Farrell, Hagen, Wood and Dutra, the professionals will be Ed Dudley, Horton Smith, Densmore Shute, Leo Diegel and Paul Runyan, the former Arkansas youth who is the Metropolis pro.

Actress to Be His Bride, Blushing Schmeling Admits

Max Sails Tomorrow; Wedding Planned for July; Aims to Return for Return Bout With Baer.

NEW YORK, June 12 (A.P.).—Blushing furiously, Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, who was knocked out by Max Baer last Thursday night, called the sports writers around him today to tell them he was sailing for Germany Wednesday night to marry Anny Ondra, blonde film star of his homeland.

For two years he has been denying vigorously that Miss Ondra was his fiancee. And today, to the very men to whom his denials had been most vigorous, the quiet young German warrior was forced not only to confess, but to tell in details of the courtship.

Max Machon, his trainer, made his predicament worse by insisting that the fighter, who lives an ideal outdoor life both here and abroad, fell in love with Miss Ondra just seeing her in motion pictures in Germany. Schmeling said that they met three years ago, that she is blonde, weighs about 110 pouds, is 23 years old and a bit better than 5 feet tall. They will be married some time in July.

"Everything depended on my fight with Baer, and when I lost I telephoned her in Berlin and we decided to be married this summer," Schmeling said. "Perhaps I will bring her here with me in September when I come back to fight again. Jack Dempsey has promised to give me another chance at Baer either in September here, or in Miami or California in February. I am going to keep on fighting and win back the heavyweight championship."

The marriage, Schmeling said, would take place at his estate at Bad Saarow, about 40 miles from Berlin, with his trainer, Max Machon, as best man. A year ago, when Machon married a friend of Miss Ondra's, Schmeling was the best man.

Since Baer knocked him out in ten rounds of savage battle in the Yankee Stadium, Schmeling has been visiting relatives in New Jersey. He seemed greatly embarrassed as he talked to newspapermen today for the first time since the night of the fight.

"The heat," he said, "took all my strength, but I am ashamed that I did not win. My friends were so sure, and I disappointed them. I could not puneh. I was tired from the start."

Triple With Bases Full Defeats Cubs for Reds

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 12 (A.P.).—Grantham's rousing triple in the seventh with two out and the bases full, proved the deciding factor in a loosely played game here today and enabled the Cincinnati Reds to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6 to 5 in the third game of their series.

Phillies Beat Dodgers, Hansen Winning First

Philadelphia, June 12 (A.P.).—Hitting Owen Carroll freely in the first four innings, the Phillies today defeated the Dodgers, 7 to 4, as Roy Hansen turned in his first victory of the year.

In chalking up his initial victory of the year, Hansen was hit hard, the Dodgers getting 12 blows, but all of them were singles except Pinch Hitter Glenn Wright's two-bagger in the ninth.

Don Hurst led the Phils' attack, driving in two runs with three hits, one of them a double. Pinky Whitney also accounted for two of his team's runs, cracking out a home run in the third to score Hurst ahead of him.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers into seventh place and boosted the idle Boston Braves into sixth.

KING LEVINSKY BANNED.

Chicago, June 12 (U.P.).—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, was suspended for 30 days by the Illinois State Athletic Commission today for roughness and failure to heed the referee's warnings in his recent bout with Tuffy Griffiths, Chicago.

Dave Miller, prominent referee, who was sidetracked at the eleventh hour as the third man for the second Dempsey-Tunny bout, had his referee's license renewed today.

Savoldi Loses Decision to Browning

11 o'Clock Law Halts Rough Bout; Crowd Dodges Showers.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 12 (A.P.).—It took Jim Browning, chief of one wing of the wrestling party, almost two full hours tonight to gain a decision over Joe Savoldi, title pretender from Notre Dame, in a rain-soaked ring in the American League Ball Park.

The match went 1 hour, 58 minutes, 5 seconds before the curfew law brought relief to 6,000 drenched spectators and the decision to Browning.

Hailed as the match that would bring forth one generally recognized king to rule the heavyweight groaners, the affair started to peter out as soon as a sudden squall of rain descended on the park a few minutes before 9 p. m. As the ringside customers rushed for the covered stands, Browning and Savoldi rushed for the ring.

Locked in Each Other's Arms.

It was several more minutes before they were discovered in there, locked in each other's arms. Then alternately through the remainder of the show, until the bell stopped proceedings at 11 p. m., in accordance with the State law, the crowd raced from the field to the stands and back again dodging a series of sudden downpours.

Horse at Belmont Allegedly Sponged

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—J. W. Y. Martin's Con Amore, one of the fastest sprinters in the East, today was withdrawn from the fourth race at Belmont Park because of alleged sponging.

Early this morning Dr. Waters, a veterinarian, was called to Martin's stable and found a silk sponge up one nostril of the 6-year-old daughter of High Cloud. There also was an obstruction in the other side of the mare's nose but the doctor was unable to get it out.

The case, the first to be reported during the Belmont meeting, was turned over to a private detective agency.

Chisox Lose To Browns On Homer

Blaeholder - Durham Duel Broken Up by Campbell.

CHICAGO, June 12 (A.P.).—Bruce Campbell's home run with Art Scharein on base in the eighth inning broke up a pitching duel between George Blaeholder and Ed Durham today and gave the St. Louis Browns a 3-to-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the opening game of the series.

The defeat, only the second inflicted by the Browns in 11 games between the two teams this season, dropped the Pale Hose back to fourth place again.

Scharein was on second base as the result of a walk and a stolen base and two were out when Campbell delivered his all-important blow. The Sox rallied in the ninth when Al Simmons led off with a single and Kress walked, but Blaeholder quickly put an end to the uprising.

The Browns' first run, scored in the first inning, was unearned. Sam West walked and advanced to third on Garms' single from where he scored on a wild pitch.

Sox Held Runless Until Seventh.

Blaeholder held the Sox away from the plate until the seventh when Appling made the rounds on a walk, an infield out, stolen base and Dykes' single.

Simmons got two of the Sox seven hits to boost his hitting average to .383, a gain of 2 points. The Browns also got seven hits off Durham.

Owner Points To Team's Hitting

Thomas and Walberg Mound Opponents in Game Today.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

MR. CLARK GRIFFITH, of the Griffith Stadium Griffiths, the most prolific trader of baseball chattels in the American League, has retired from the baseball market for the remainder of the season.

Mr. Griffith, reminded that the curtain was to drop on all intra-league deals next Thursday at midnight, and asked what he intended to do about it, evinced great disinterest in the deadline and said his Nats were prepared to fight it out all summer along ...nt lines.

"Our pitchers are showing signs of coming along and we're a hitting ball club this season," Griffith pointed out. Sunday's records showed that we made 99 more hits than even the Yankees who played only four games less and the way the other clubs have been pounding the New York pitching we're in a good spot."

Better Hitting Is Noted.

Thus it seems that Mr. Griffith is prepared to let Manager Cronin battle it out with the Washington team as now constituted. The Nats' best hitters have showed distinct signs of hitting and as usual there are no infield complaints. Five pitchers have gone the route in their last five games and it seems that even the hurlers, the weakest link on the club, are settling down to a nice pace.

The Nats' immediate business at hand, is the game this afternoon with Connie Mack's athletes, whose hot breaths are on the collective necks of the Nats only 2½ games to the rear. For this occasion, Manager Cronin has Al Thomas groomed and curried for another starting effort despite the fact that Thomas forced in the winning run in the ninth against Boston on Thursday.

With a full day of rest for his athletes, including the Scandinavian, Rube Walberg, who is scheduled to pitch today, Connie Mack is hoping for an even break in the two-game series here following the debacle of Sunday, when the slug-nutty Nats went batty to the extent of 19 base hits and a 13-6 decision.

Week-End Progress Gratifying.

The week-end developments were very gratifying to the Nats, who cleaned up three of four games at Boston and then toppled the A's, who were making threatening motions to dislodge them from second place. They lopped exactly 2½ games from the lead of the Yankees, who fared badly in Boston and Philadelphia, and hauled themselves to within 3½ games of the leaders.

The manner in which the A's and the Red Sox slammed Lefty Gomez, Johnny Allen, Red Ruffing, Don Brennan and Herb Pennock was encouraging to the Nats, who are hopeful that the Western clubs may take the cue and lend some assistance in the effort of the Nats to overhaul the

SEASON IS DEVOID OF OUTSTANDING 3-YEAR-OLD RACERS

Top-Notchers Inconsistent In Stakes

Triumphs, Failures Mixed, However; Swivel Rates.

By HENRY M'LEMORE.

NEW YORK, June 12 (U.P.).—With the 1933 horse racing season well past the half-mark and most of the major stakes already in the record books, the question of which is the country's champion 3-year-old is no nearer settlement than it was with the running of the Florida Derby in March.

It was in that race, first of the 3-year-old classics, that Charley O. made the opening bid for championship honors. But the Eastman Estate's big, handsome colt must have left his running down among the palms and palmettoes for, with the exception of a third in the Kentucky Derby, he hasn't shown anything since then.

Two Pretenders Produced by Derby.

The Derby at Churchill Downs produced two pretenders to the throne—Broker's Tip, who won the event, and Head Play, who gave the Bradley colt the stretch battle that will become a legend of the turf. But these two colts' claims to greatness were not long in being knocked from under them. Broker's Tip lost his when he ran thirteenth in a field of 13 in the Pimlico Preakness.

The Preakness, which he won handily, increased Head Play's fame. Many of the experts, after watching Mrs. Silas Mason's big hope run away with his opposition, went overboard, going so far as to say that perhaps another Man o' War was among us.

Unfortunately for Head Play, the season did not end with the Preakness. He went to the post in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica and wound up taking the dust of Mr. Khayyam and De Valera.

The experts found this one a trifle difficult to explain, for Head Play had beaten Mr. Khayyam decisively in the Derby, and run the legs off both Mr. Khayyam and De Valera at Baltimore.

Mr. Khayyam assured himself of honorable mention when the year is out by following his victory in the Wood Memorial with a clean-cut victory in the American Derby at Chicago. Remembering his poor races early in the season, however, one is unwilling to place the finger on him and say "There is the class of the year."

Situation Is Muddled by The Darb.

The championship situation was further muddled when C. V. Whitney's The Darb galloped home in front of the Withers. The field was so poor, however, that track followers elected to wait until the Belmont before singing any hymns in his direction. It is just as well they did, too, for The Darb finished fourth. This classic, the oldest and richest 3-year-old event in the country, went to Joseph Widener's Hurry Off, a rank outsider—such an outsider, in fact, that three days before the Belmont he could have been claimed for $4,000.

Many horsemen believe that the best 3-year-old of the season has yet to go to the post. That is, they consider Adolph Pons' filly, Swivel, as the class of the lot. But Swivel, shelved with an attack of coughs while in training for the Kentucky Derby, has been unable to regain fitness.

Failure of a season to produce a champion 3-year-old is nothing new. Last year the issue was still in doubt when the curtain dropped. Burgoo King, double winner of the Derby and Preakness, seemed headed toward the title, but went bad before he had a chance to establish a clear title.

Gelbert to Help Coach Football at Gettysburg

Gettysburg, Pa., June 12 (A.P.).—Charley Gelbert, star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, has accepted the position of assistant football coach at Gettysburg College, it was made known today. He succeeds J. C. Frank, former Pennsylvania State College star.

Gelbert, who won 11 sports letters in football, baseball and basket ball at Lebanon Valley College, is convalescing from a gunshot wound in his left leg, suffered last November 16 while hunting in the Tuscora Mountains near Chambersburg. Gelbert will not report to Gettysburg until early in September. He will assist Head Coach Henry T. Bream.

NATS TO STAND PAT, SAYS OWNER GRIFFITH

Yankees. Washington, with five victories in eight games with the Yanks, is the only club to show a profit in the hand-to-hand battles with the champions.

But the Nats could stand another starting pitcher. Crowder, despite his recent successes, is still far off form, and Stewart and Whitehill have been impressive of late only against the Red Sox. Weaver is troubled with a sore arm that may keep him out another week. Jack Russell is bidding strongly for a regular turn and McAfee is a fixture in relief roles, but there isn't a stand-out pitcher on the club.

Griffith has long been an admirer of Sam Gray, who has not been seeing much service with the Browns, except in relief roles. Griffith has enjoyed remarkable success in rejuvenating veteran pitchers, with Dutch Ruether and Stanley Coveleskie, in 1925 his most notable examples.

But any deal consummated by the Nats will be a cash transaction. There is little trading material on the Washington Club as the result of the 23-player limit, and Griffith is not aiming to dispose of any of his regulars.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 12.

Sandwrack, $34.42 to win, $36.62 to place, $20.14 to show. Well, friend, that certainly makes up for a few misses. However, I backed up that exclusive pick with Night Jasime, $5.52, and Mariana, $3.90. Bright Beauty, my special at Long Branch, ran nowhere in particular, but that's no excuse for not sticking with the mare. She is fit and will be there—and soon. Tomorrow, Sister Madge goes in the first at Bainbridge, at a mile and 70 yards and with maiden 3-year-olds. This filly, practically left at the post, ate up ground to be third in a sprint at Bowie. If she don't win, please don't sue me. BILL.

FIRST RACE—SURETY is a pretty fair sort of maiden and seems destined to graduate right here. Was heavily played in Maryland. MOPPET gets the rail position and may be second. BUDDY APOLIS for the rest of the purse.

SECOND RACE—CHERRY TIME is there or thereabouts with each appearance and gets the Bennings call over these 2-year-olds. LE MISERABLE is the one to beat. PEEDERQUE, with which I made acquaintance in Maryland, is at this track to win races. However, this may be the conditioner. The best distance for the Crouch gelding is 6 furlongs.

THIRD RACE—This is the toughest race on the card, bringing together a sharp group that are hard to figure. BLACK COMET'S last was so impressive I'm taking him over a group of fleet sprinters. BARASHKOVA may turn on that best effort and be close. BURGOO, another last-out winner, for the show.

FOURTH RACE—SISTER MARY won for me over at Washington Park. Carries only a steadying impost and will appreciate the rail position. The consistent HAMILTON and GRACIOUS GIFT to battle it out for the other money places.

FIFTH RACE—BRIGHT SHADOW has fair races and brilliant trials as recommendations here. RESISTING and TAR WATER figure well up and will be ready if the top one makes any mistakes.

SIXTH RACE—UNENCUMBERED turned in a whale of a winning effort for me the last time at juicy odds, and I'm going back for more tomorrow. True, ON SIR is a shifty sort and so is TELA, but UNENCUMBERED was never better, and the stable believes in getting while the getting is good.

SEVENTH RACE—ELCIDIO, a winner in this region, finds another field that's not too tough. KIBITZER and BEAVER are both speedy and will press the top one to the finish.

EIGHTH RACE—GO FETCH goes postward with the Bennings stamp of approval in the final. ROYAL TREASURE and SUFFOLK for the place and show.

Long Branch Race Brings Dead Heat

Long Branch Race Track, Toronto, June 12 (A.P.).—The rarest of all finishes, a dead heat, occurred today in the sixth race here when Phil R. and Upset Lad crossed the finish line in such perfect alignment the judges were unable to rule one horse had beaten the other.

The first-place pool was shared between backers of the two horses. Phil R., more heavily backed, paid off $6.90 to win, $5.60 to place and $3.90 show, while Upset Lad's backers received $12.50 win, $11.60 place and $6 show. Third place went to Yellow Metal.

It was the first dead heat on this track since 1926, when on July 18, Isaman and Hands Up were equal. On June 24, 1925, Atlantida and Leaside tied here.

Sandwrack, 16-1, Wins Lincoln Fields Feature

Lincoln Fields, Ill., June 12 (A.P.).—A field horse, the Lone Star Stable's Sandwrack, won the opening day feature at Lincoln Fields, the Ravenswood purse at a mile and a sixteenth today.

Dusky Devil set the early pace, but weakened and Jockey A. Richard moved Sandwrack into the lead and managed to keep him there to win by a neck over Uncommon Gold. Old Judge finished third in a race run in 1:45 4-5.

Sandwrack paid the fancy prices of $34.42 to win $36.62 to place and $20.14 to show. Foxiana, the other field horse, was well back

Johnston, Owner Of Repaid, Expires

New York, June 12 (A.P.).—James F. Johnston, owner of the 3-year-old colt, Repaid, which was highly regarded in the Kentucky Derby future books, died today following a long illness.

Under the nom de course of the Quincy Stable, Johnston was a prominent figure in racing for many years. Until a few years ago he always owned a large stable and won the 1914 Belmont Park Futurity with Trojan.

About ten years ago he sold Playfellow, a full brother of Man o' War, to Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy sportsman and oil man, for $100,000, but after a long court trial he was forced to return the purchase price when the court upheld Sinclair's contention that the horse was a windsucker. Johnston was 63 years old.

Drake Coed Takes Golf Tourney Medal

Wakonda Club, Des Moines, Iowa, June 12 (U.P.).—Lucille Robinson, comely Drake University coed, today mastered Wakonda Club's rugged fairways and rolling greens for a new women's record to gain medalist honors in the women's transmississippi golf tournament. Match play will begin tomorrow and continue throughout the week.

Miss Robinson, Iowa State champion, turned in an 81, one over par, over a wind-swept, sun-burned course, clipping one stroke from her own record. Par 80 has never been equaled by a woman at Wakonda.

Loughlin, Navy Star, Wins in Net Tourney

Philadelphia, June 12 (A.P.).—The playing of C. Elliott Loughlin, Naval Academy captain, and Sam Gilpin, No. 1 in the rankings, today featured the opening competition in the forty-eighth annual Pennsylvania and Middle States tennis championship play.

Loughlin, seeded eighth, surprised the talent by easily eliminating William Kyles, of Rutgers, 6—0, 6—1. A bye later put him in the third round.

Occupying the No. 1 ranking position in the absence of Dr. Eugene McAuliffe, the titleholder, Gilpin, first defeated Robert Post, of Wayne, Pa., and then went on to eliminate William T. Tilden 3d, of Princeton.

JOE KNIGHT WINNER.

Dorothy Hunter, 19, Leads Golf Field

Newton, Mass., June 12 (A.P.).—Dorothy Hunter, 19-year-old Boston University student, whose studies have kept her out of most of the season's golfing competitions, today cast aside her books and scored a remarkably steady 78 on the difficult Brae Burn course to gain a stroke lead over a brilliant field of 73 in the opening round of the Women's Eastern Association 36-hole medal test.

The long-hitting Charlotte Glutting, young New Jersey girl, who made a surprisingly good showing in last year's national tournament, placed second with a 79 after an inauspicious start. These leaders were the only pair to break 80.

Maureen Orcutt, of White Beeches, N. J., who has won three of these Eastern competitions during her brilliant career, placed third on the opening list with an 81.

Injured Race Driver Is Slightly Improved

Hammond, Ind., June 12 (A.P.).—The condition of Malcolm Fox, Philadelphia race driver, whose car crashed through a fence at the Roby speedway yesterday, tonight was reported as slightly improved, but still serious.

Fox suffered concussion of the brain and remained unconscious from the time of the accident until late this afternoon. He again lost consciousness, but the attending physician said his general condition had shown improvement.

Mt. Rainier Beats Oxon For Title

Mathias Gives 3 Hits in 13-0 Final of Prince Georges.

MOUNT RAINIER HIGH SCHOOL'S baseball team drubbed Oxon Hill High, 13-0, on the University of Maryland diamond yesterday to win the Prince George's County scholastic championship. It is the first county title in any sport the Mounts have won in the three-year existence of the school.

Foster Mathias, who has pitched for Mount Rainier in every championship game this season, was in fine form, allowing only three hits, fanning nine and walking none. Meanwhile, the Mounts were amassing thirteen bingles off two Oxon Hill pitchers.

Mounts Take Early Lead.

Mount Rainier previously won the northern section title in the county competition, while Oxon Hill was the finalist in the southern section.

It was the last game for both teams. There will be no State championship series this year.

MAJ. SUTHERLAND ONE STROKE IN LEAD IN GOLF TOURNEY

Miller Trails In Annual Event

War Department Is Seen Victor in Team Play.

By DAVE HERMAN.

MAJ. RICHARD K. SUTHERLAND, free-swinging champion of the Army and Navy Country Club, shot into the lead by a one-stroke margin in the first day's play of the annual interdepartmental golf tournament yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club, pacing close to 75 contestants, with 60 more slated to compete today.

Representing the War Department, Maj. Sutherland negotiated the 36 holes in 81-79—160, which is a good bit higher than he is accustomed to shoot. Running a close second for the individual low gross trophy was the veteran, John R. Miller, Beaver Dam titleholder, and big hope of the Treasury in the two-day competition. After slumping in the morning with an 83, Miller rallied in the afternoon to post a 78, the lowest 18-hole total of the day.

The defending champion, Tom Belshe, Indian Spring seige gun, a member of the War Department, reported trouble from tee to green and wound up with 83-83—166.

Trowbridge Leading for Low Net.

M. C. Trowbridge, of Interstate Commerce Commission, took a commanding lead in the battle for low net honors by virtue of his 83—82—165 and his 26 handicap for the 36 holes that gave him a 139.

Reese R. Hair, of I. C. C., blew up with an 88 after shooting an 80 in the morning. Maj. Earl L. Naiden, of the War Department, a former Virginia amateur champion, was way off form and took 84—89—173. Elmer Collins, of Justice, had rounds of 84—86—170.

The War Department, with such stars as Maj. Sutherland, Maj. Naiden, Tom Belshe and Maj. E. A. Noyes, appeared to be headed for the team championship. The lanky Maj. Noyes is scheduled to play his two rounds today. There are those who believe that the Treasury quartet, led by Miller, will prove a serious threat for the team laurels, with three of its men yet to compete.

Bags Birdie 2 on Ninth.

Maj. Sutherland, who over the week-end at his home course snared par scores of 72, had a battle on his hands during his cruise about the rugged Washington course. A string of 5s and two 6s dotted his card for the first nine of the morning, and he saved himself a stroke by bagging a birdie 2 on the 189-yard ninth, barely missing an ace. His tee shot stopped 10 inches from the cup. He was out in 41 and back in 40.

In the afternoon his drive on the short second was 8 feet from the cup and he nabbed another birdie. The major flashed his best golf on the stretch, which he made in 38 after having a run of six straight fours. Two accurately played shots on the par 5 fifth enabled him to can a birdie 4.

Following today's round, prizes will be awarded for low gross and low net in three classes, as well as the individual trophy.

Medal Net Scores for Day.

Va. U. Urged To Sever Its Group Ties

Full Faculty Rule of Athletics Is Plea of Flippin.

UNIVERSITY, Va., June 12 (A.P.).—Harry F. Flippin, president of the 1933 class of the University fo Virginia and versatile athlete, today urged that the university withdraw from all athletic conferences, that there be complete faculty control of athletics and that there be no breaches in the "home and home" rule of scheduling sports contests.

Flippin, who is the son of Dr. James Carroll Flippin, dean of the university's school of medicine, is the holder of two unbroken world record over the hurdles and formerly was national pentathlon champion and all-Southern end. He spoke after a luncheon for graduates and alumni.

"Since it has been my privilege to serve the university as mascot, bat boy, a member of athletic teams and of the athletic council and as coach, my mind naturally turns at this time to things athletics," he said.

Clean Athletics Sponsored.

"As we look back over our history in the field of sports for the past three decades I believe it may be fairly said that the University of Virginia during this period has steadily maintained a leadership in the sponsoring of clean athletics in the South, and that members of these teams have kept their records clean and their honor unstained. This is and should be a matter of pardonable pride to all Virginia alumni.

"The fight has not been an easy one, however, and some very obvious difficulties have arisen. It should be remembered that good sportsmanship demands not merely identical eligibility rules but identical interpretation and enforcement of these rules. In the latter I believe Virginia has been severely handicapped, and in line with her reputation for honesty and straightforwardness she would so well to free herself of al conference ties.

Cites Prime Object of Alumni.

"At a meeting of the alumni six years ago a resoultion was passed to the effect that the prime object of athletics at Virginia was to encourage as many persons as possible to participate in the various branches of athletic sports. I can not refrain from commending this movement now partially realized with the introduction of intramural athletics, and to venture the opinion that Virginia's future in the athletic world will be determined largely by the completion of this program.

"An adequate system of intramural athletics naturally leads to faculty control of all athletics, a cnodition to be desired and one now prevailing in most of our leading universities."

Canton, N. Y., June 12 (U.P.).—For the first time in baseball history, a Major League player today received a college degree during the championship season when Hal Schumacher, pitcher of the New York Giants, was graduated from St. Lawrence University. Richard Eddy Syke, president of the University, handed the 21-year-old hurler his bachelor of science diploma and the spectators in the new Gunnison Memorial Chapel gave him a great ovation.

After the graduation ceremonies the Giants beat the St. Lawrence varsity baseball team, 12 to 4, before more than 5,000 fans. Schumacher pitched the first two innings against his alma mater.

Deadline for Capital City Player-Shifts Thursday

WARNING was sounded last night by President Richard S. Tennyson that the dead line for signing and releasing players in the Capital City League, which occurs at midnight Thursday, will be strictly observed. Managers of all teams are accordingly requested to register new players as early as possible, either at The Post or District Playground Office, in order to avoid confusion at the last minute.

The 1933 struggle for the city championship has developed into one of the greatest Capital City League races waged in recent years. A difference of only a game and a half separates the leading Dor-A Team from the eighth-place Congress Heights Club. The only team not able to hold their own thus far have been Woltz Photographers and Federal A. C., and these two plan to add new blood in an attempt to bolster their attack before Thursday.

Dor-A Upsetting Dope.

Runner-up for the senior championship last year, which the Millers won, Dor-A was conceded little chance of winning the 1933 title, but thus far Allie Bowers' lads have surprised and confounded their critics. On the other hand, Certified Bargers, who were conceded an excellent chance of taking the crown, are having difficulty in remaining well up in the standings.

As matters now stand, any team can win. Dor-A is not so far in front that it can not be caught. No predictions can be made concerning the outcome of future games. With the underdogs winning their share of games it looks very much like the boys will be arguing about ownership of the title in late autumn.

Australian Charge Hit By British Cricket Body

London, June 12 (A.P.).—The Marylebone Cricket Club, governing body of the game, tonight denied charges of the Australian Cricket board of control that English bowling had been unfair in last winter's test matches, and warned that continuance of "'barracking" (jeering) might result in cessation of test matches between the two countries.

In a 700-word cable message to Australian authorities, the M. C. C. declared the "body line" bowling of the type practised by Harold Larwood in the last tests was fair and had been in use for many years.

The message declared as impracticable a new rule recommended by the Australian board by which bowlers of "body-line" balls would be penalized.

NATIONAL CAPITAL LEAGUE.

A. A. U.'S RUN WILL DRAW CANADIANS

Monarch Club Team Entered for Event Here Saturday.

ENTRY of one of the strongest marathon racing teams in the Western Hemisphere in the National A. A. U. championship run to be held here Saturday was assured yesterday with word from Toronto that the Monarch Athletic Club will send seven men to compete in the grind. The team captured the team championship last year and has visions of repeating.

Since their last appearance in this city the Canadians have won the Boston Patriots' Day run, the Canadian championship and the London-Ontario run, and reports from Toronto indicate that the team is at the top of its stride and eager to add fresh laurels to its brilliant record.

Ace of the team is Dave Komonen, acclaimed by many as the outstanding distance runner in the game today. Komonen finished second to Leslie Pawson in the Boston run, but later won many victories, including the United States 15-kilometer championship.

Another expected to finish well up among the leaders is little Percy Wyer, 98 pounds of durability who finished second in the run held here last year. Other members of the team include Eddie Cudworth, Jimmy Bartlett, Alex Burnside, Ronald Mayne and Jim Shaw.

Despite the apparent strength of the Toronto harriers, they will experience keen competition in the fight for the title. Bill Steiner, National A. A. U. 20-mile champion; Paul De Bruyn, German champion, and Russell Jekel will run under the colors of the German-American Athletic Club of New York, a strong contender for the honors.

BOYS CLUB EAGLES BOOKED.

Washington Boys Club Eagles will meet the Hilltop Insects tomorrow at 10 a. m. on the field at Third and Missouri avenue northwest.

Williams and Hunt Win in Jr. Tennis

Dennison, Morehead Advance in Boys' Tournament.

THE annual District junior tennis tournament moved toward its ultimate end yesterday as Frank Williams, of Episcopal High School, and Gilbert Hunt, Middle Atlantic champion, conquered their opponents in easy fashion at Wardman Park. The pair is conceded an excellent chance of battling it out in the finals for the title.

Hunt scored over Jimmy Moore, 6—0, 3—6, 6—0. Moore rallied to take the second set when Hunt eased up and became careless with his shots, but the eventual winner bore down in the deciding set and won without losing a game.

Williams disposed of Frank Schaeffer in straight sets, losing only two games. Yelverton Garnett surprised by winning over Gordon Grabill, 6—1, 6—3, with the Central High School lad favored to take the match.

Stan Dennison and Harry Morehead won the only matches played in the boys' tournament, eliminating Holt and Channing, respectively. The pair meet today in the quarter-finals, and the action should be at a fast pace. Morehead is a slight favorite over his rival, who was runner-up last year.

JUNIOR.

Second round—Yeomans defeated Cranston, 6—4, 6—2; Williams defeated Schaeffer, 6—0, 6—2; Doyle defeated Robinette, 6—2, 6—3; Hunt defeated Moore, 6—0, 3—6, 6—0; Landry defeated Rosenberg, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2; Garnett defeated Grabill, 6—1, 6—3.

BOYS.

Second round — Morehead defeated Channing, 6—0, 6—1; Dennison defeated Holt, 6—2, 6—4; Baker defaulted to McGinnis.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

Boys' quarter-final round, 3 p. m.—Morehead vs. Dennison; 4 p. m. Thompson vs. Johnson, McGinnis vs. Robins, Bernstein vs. Adair.

Jackie Brown Wins; Retains Title Claim

London, June 12 (U.P.).—Jackie Brown, of England, tonight retained his claims to the world's flyweight championship by winning a 15-round decision over Valentin Angelmann, of France, at Olympia Stadium.

Brown, who is recognized as champion by the International Boxing Federation and the National Boxing Association of the United States, weighed 111 pounds, to Angelmann's 111¾.

Bush Back With Reds; In Charge Saturday

Cincinnati, June 12 (A.P.).—Donie Bush, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has recovered fully from his recent illness and was back at Redland Field today—not in harness, but as an interested spectator as his charges took the field in the third game of the series with the Cubs.

Bush will not resume active charge of the team until next Saturday.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

FRITZ KREISLER, famous violinist, is a striking example of a child prodigy who became a genius. Unlike many cases where a child showed exceptional ability only to lose it upon maturity, Fritz Kreisler's mastery of the violin has increased with the years since 1882 when, a child of 7, he was admitted to the Vienna Conservatory.

He won the gold medal of the Vienna Conservatory when he was 10 years old, and two years later was awarded the Grand Prix on graduation from the Paris Conservatory, where he studied under Massenet and Delibes. When he was 14 he made a successful tour of the United States.

Then, strange as it seems, Kreisler gave up music to study medicine. Later he served as an officer of the Austrian army. Ten years after his United States tour he returned to the concert stage, where he won high acclaim. At the outbreak of the World War he rejoined his old regiment. He was wounded in action. After his discharge he again took up music to become, as he is now, one of the world's greatest living musicians.

• • • •

About as unlike as two plants could well be to the casual observer—one growing as a tree, the other as a bush, one a fruit, the other a flower—the peach and the rose are, to the botanist, just a couple of members of the same family. Both are of the family Rosaceae.

Reduction or Agreement Will Not Forestall Pending Probe, He Asserts.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

Neither a reduction in milk prices nor any marketing agreement under the agricultural adjustment administration will forestall the pending inquiry into the prices of dairy products in the Capital, Senator William H. King said last night.

For several days, it is reliably reported, conferences have been held between representatives of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association and the distributors with the objective of making a 1 cent per quart reduction in retail milk prices.

Unable to agree on the percentage of the cut which the producer and the distributor should bear, it is understood, the first conference broke up with the understanding that the distributors would submit a new plan in which the distributors would take a higher percentage of the proposed cut.

Inquiry to Proceed.

The aim of the conferences, it is reported, is to make the price cut so as to appease the public clamor for an investigation of local milk marketing to determine whether consumers are in the grip of a milk trust.

"Regardless of any price cut or any marketing agreement this investigation is going to go ahead," said Senator King emphatically. "We are going to find out whether there is a milk trust that is holding up prices and if there is, we intend to prevent a recurrence of such a situation."

Dairy interests have been represented as hoping that the appointment of a milk administrator for this area or a marketing agreement sanctioned by the agricultural adjustment administration would check the course of the inquiry. In fact, the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association has submitted a tentative marketing agreement to the adjustment administration.

Will Hold Hearings.

However, at a conference yesterday attended by representatives of the Department of Agriculture, Senator Warren Austin, chairman of the subcommittee which is to conduct the inquiry, and Elwood H. Seal, special counsel to the committee, it was agreed that the Department of Agriculture and the Senate subcommittee would do nothing to impede the work of the other.

"As soon as Congress adjourns," Senator King said, "we will begin to mobilize all the factors which enter into the scope of our inquiry. We will first make a survey of our field, then map a plan of procedure and start the hearings."

Citizens Approve Quiz.

The pending investigation into milk prices in the District was approved last night by the Congress Heights Citizens Association, which also commended The Washington Post for its "public spirited action in directing the attention of the public" to the milk situation.

The resolution declared that "a series of articles in The Washington Post has demonstrated that the retail prices of milk and cream are inordinately high in Washington and that there is evidence that a milk trust is in operation here which is detrimental to the best interests of the people."

King Is Commended.

The association gave its approval to the investigation and commended Senator William H. King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, for his vigorous action in obtaining Senate sanction for the inquiry.

Dr. E. E. Richardson, president of the association, was unanimously indorsed for the position on the Board of Education, caused by the resignation of Rabbi Abram Simon.

The District Commissioners informed the association that Nichols avenue, between Howard road and St. Elizabeths Hospital, will be repaved. This project has been fought for by the association for some time.

CENTRAL STUDENT DISCOVERED HANGED

David Shuman's Brother Finds Body Suspended From Transom.

Suspended by a rope attached to the transom of the door, David Shuman, 15, 807 Kenyon street northwest, a student at Central High School, was found dead in his second-floor bedroom late yesterday.

The body was discovered by his younger brother, Irving, 9, when he opened the door to the room. Alarmed, he ran and told his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Shuman, who immediately sought aid from neighbors.

No reason could be given by the family for suicide. The boy is reported to have been a good student, making excellent grades, and to have been in the best of spirits when he returned home from school, about 4 p. m.

Memorial Will Be Held By Knights of Pythias

Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, will address the annual memorial exercises of the Knights of Pythias at 8:15 tonight at the Pythian Temple.

Alfred M. Schwartz, grand chancellor of the organization, arranged the program.

Harding Confesses 'Doc' Davis Killing

George P. Harding, indicted for first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Harry "Doc" Davis, April 20, pleaded guilty yesterday to manslaughter. His plea was accepted by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, in District Supreme Court, and Harding was remanded to jail for sentence Friday.

Harding was charged with shooting Davis in front of 931 Ninth street northwest, when the latter attempted to separate Harding and another man in a brawl. Davis, a brother of Police Inspector O. T. Davis, died in Sibley Hospital shortly afterward.

Davis lived at 423 Ingraham street northwest. He was 46 and was well known in sporting circles for his benefactions to persons in need.

Dr. Miller Must Explain to Court Bare-Handed Taking of Wildcat.

"Taking property without right from the D. C. government. (Wildcat.)" The complainant was Dr. William Mann, superintendent of the Zoological Park.

Miller, who has the doubtful distinction of being the first man ever arrested for kidnaping a wildcat with his bare hands, will probably be brought to trial in Police Court today. He took the cat Sunday afternoon, contending that it had been given him. Though badly bitten and clawed about the arms and face, Miller had the cat choked into submission when apprehended by police.

OMAHA MAN CALLED D.C. HEAD CANDIDATE

President Reported Considering John Hopkins for Commissioner.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

A new note of discord has been struck in the dissonance which has characterized the fight over appointments of the two new civilian Commissioners of the District.

President Roosevelt is reported to have under serious consideration the appointment of John Hopkins, of Omaha, Nebr., former police head of that city and at present head of the fire department there. Mr. Hopkins is not eligible for appointment if the law governing selection of District Commissioners is complied with, but the President is being urged by various persons, including a Democratic national committeeman, Arthur Mullen, of Nebraska, to name Mr. Hopkins.

Farley Held Wavering.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, who conducted the preconvention campaign for Mr. Roosevelt on the basis of home rule, is said to be wavering. Although the six votes of the District delegation to the Chicago convention were put in Mr. Farley's pocket at a time when they did his cause much more good than the number of them would indicate, the patronage dispenser of the administration now is reported ready to forget the voteless District and give District jobs to persons who have votes and a voting following elsewhere.

Although the law would prohibit appointment of Mr. Hopkins or anyone else who is not a bona fide resident of the District, residents of the National Capital would be practically helpless to upset any outside appointment the President might make. Similar appointments have been made in the past, and although contests were started in the courts the contests were not effective, the courts denying the right of citizens to challenge the selection of the President when approved by the Senate.

Candidates Confident.

Meanwhile friends of bona fide residents of the District who are candidates for the posts are confident their favorites will be named. Friends of Ernest G. Walker are confident he will be named despite contrary indications from high official quarters.

Friends of Melvin C. Hazen also are confident, as are the supporters of Malcolm S. McConihe, Joseph J. Cotter and others.

When the President will make his decision is doubtful. He wants to get the task off his shoulders, but he is confronted with more than the usual flurry surrounding the closing of a session of Congress. It is quite probable that he will delay his selection until after Congress adjourns and name two new Commissioners under recess appointments. It is known that he has been converted to a belief that there should be a revision of the District government. Frederic A. Delano, the President's uncle, who is widely familiar with District affairs and has devoted quite a lot of study to the development of the National Capital, is commonly associated in gossip with subsequent appointment as governor of the District.

CITIZENS CRITICIZE PLAYGROUND DELAY

Stanton Park Association Charges Funds Are Held for New Highway.

Criticizing failure to speed completion of the proposed Northeast Playground, Stanton Park Citizens Association last night charged that the National Park and Planning appropriation was impounded for future use on the new Fort Washington highway purely as a step to reduce District expenditures. They contended that the road will not be under construction for at least three years.

Funds from this appropriation were available for completion of property purchase for the new playground it was declared. Members of the playground committee reported that letters to the budget director were completely ignored and that no explanation as to why the money was impounded was given them.

The association was reluctant to act favorably on a bill now before Congress which would permit District Commissioners to utilise surplus District funds for local purposes as they deemed necessary. It was suggested that the bill should include a clause stating that the appropriations be approved by either a congressional or civic body. Harry N. Stull committee chairman on law and legislation, was appointed to draft a report on the bill and suggestions as to its possible amendments.

Piney Branch Citizens Will Favor McLeod Bill

Because of the lack of a quorum, the Piney Branch Citizens Association did not meet last night, but a letter to the association asking support of a District bill to be introduced in Congress would be answered favorably, the president, Capt. G. L. Shorey, indicated.

The bill referred to, introduced by Clarence J. McLeod, of Michigan, asks that District funds now impounded in the Treasury be made available for use as they are needed. The president pointed out that the association had gone on record at a recent meeting in favor of such a move.

Needy Got 6,375 Meals In May From Volunteers

The Volunteers of America served 6,375 meals to the needy during May at the Relief Mission, 471 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, according to Staff Capt. Arthur E. Wise, regional commander, made public today.

Of these, 1,133 were served to children attending school or of preschool age, and 208 to women. The rest were served to men. The mission also rendered emergency aid to 1,385 families in May and distributed 1,873 quarts of milk.

800 PARK SAVINGS DEPOSITORS DECIDE TO CONTINUE PROBE

Permanent Committee Will Seek Settlement of Bank's Affairs.

Continued investigation by a permanent committee to protect the interests of the depositors of the Park Savings Bank and to facilitate a settlement of the affairs of the institution was voted at a meeting of more than 800 depositors in Central High School auditorium last night.

A committee appointed at a previous meeting of depositors was retired in favor of the new group of a permanent nature.

Speakers stated that they were not able to get adequate information about the affairs of the bank from its conservator or from the Comptroller of the Currency. J. W. Thompson, chairman of the old committee and who was appointed on the permanent group, told the gathering that they would probably get as little as 15 cents on the dollar of their deposits.

Jackson Tells of Remedies.

E. Hilton Jackson, a local attorney who has aided the committee in its investigation, stated at the meeting that there are certain remedies which can be insisted upon and attained by the depositors of the bank. He said he had full confidence in the integrity of the bank directors.

The permanent committee consists of the following: Col. Robert H. Young, John C. Drake, S. H. Hines, William J. Neale, Lyle Cooke and Mr. Thompson. The Rev. George F. Dudley, pastor of the St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church, presided at the meeting.

Reports of the general subscription committee for stock in the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington to the organization committee for that institution yesterday were so assuring that the latter body has decided to proceed with completion of details for the official set-up of the prospective bank.

In making this announcement, however, Edwin C. Graham, selected president for the proposed bank, refused to announce a date for its opening until the stock necessary for its organization, $1,250,000, is fully subscribed. Mr. Graham impressed upon the general subscription committee the necessity for completing the sale of stock as early as possible.

Committee on Assets.

The organization committee, meeting at the main office of the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., which is to be the main office of Hamilton National Bank of Washington, reviewed the stock-selling campaign to date and appointed a subcommittee to report on possible additions to the directorate of the new bank to be announced later.

Another committee was named to pass on the assets of the seven local restricted banks to form Hamilton National Bank of Washington. These are Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., District National Bank, Potomac Savings Bank, Washington Savings Bank, Northeast Savings Bank, Woodridge-Landon Savings & Commercial Bank and United States Savings Bank.

A third committee was selected to decide which of the ten buildings of the banks concerned in the plan would be retained as branches of the new institution. All committees will report at the next meeting of the organization committee Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Subscription Passes Million.

Capt. Chester Wells, chairman of the general subscription committee, reported a new total of $1,050,000 subscribed to the $1,250,000 worth of stock necessary to open the prospective bank. Describing this as encouraging, Capt. Wells, nevertheless, urged those contemplating subscribing to do so at once in order that the realization of the proposed bank may be hastened and that 50 per cent of the deposits now withheld in the seven participating banks may be made available to depositors.

Progress was reported by officers of Franklin National Bank in its campaign to reopen that institution independently and under its present title. The latest reported total from Franklin National Bank is $2,116,000 out of a neccessary $2,200,000 worth of depositors' and stockholders' consents to the foregoing plan.

Five More Boys Needed in Band.

Five additional musicians are needed in the Northeast Boys' Club Band, it was announced by H. J. Smith, formerly with the United States Marine Band, who is training the boys. The only requirement for joining the band is membership in the club.

G. U. Graduating Class Hears Martin Conboy

Degrees Are Conferred Upon 510 Students at Exercises Held in Constitution Hall Because of Threatened Rain.

Praise of President Roosevelt for pulling the country "out of the slough of despond" without even a "wrench to the Constitution" was given by Martin Conboy, of New York, yesterday afternoon, in addressing the 510 graduates of Georgetown University at its 134th annual commencement exercises.

Under threat of a rain that failed to materialize, the scene of the commencement was shifted at a late hour, with resultant confusion, from the college campus to Constitution Hall, where 5,000 assembled to witness a colorful ceremony. Two honorary degrees of doctor of laws were awarded, one to Dr. L. S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan-American Union, and a professor at the Foreign Service School, and the other to Prof. Joseph Daniel Sullivan, of its school of law.

Roosevelt Is Praised.

Mr. Conboy, who is a regent of Georgetown and holds its doctor of laws and bachelor of laws degrees, declared that the university, which was here before the Capitol of the United States, "has seen good times and bad times, over and over again, and all the time it has witnessed the working out of the great experiment of 'government of the people, by the people, for the people.'"

The speaker declared that "no abdication by any branch of our Government, no dictatorship in the Russian or any other mode, is possible in this country unless we withdraw from the affirmations of the Declaration of Independence, and that we will not do."

Cooperation in emergency at the demand of the people, and in their interests, has been the way the administration has coped successfully with the present crisis, Mr. Conboy pointed out. President Roosevelt has accomplished this cooperation, he said, in quoting the President's own explanation of the extraordinary powers conferred upon him.

No Strain on Constitution.

"There is no wrench to the Constitution in that," he added. "The powers existing under the Constitution accommodated themselves to the cooperation necessitated by the emergency. Was that cooperation adequate to the circumstances? So far as we can judge by present indications, it was."

In his opening address at the exercises, President Nevils also emphasized Georgetown's faith in the Constitution and its determination, through its R. O. T. C. department, to teach its students always to defend the country.

Maj. William H. Hobson, U. S. A., who is retiring this year as commandant at the Hilltop, announced the name of the "honor cadet" of the corps as John William Ahern, who was the lieutenant colonel of the cadet battalion during the past year.

GOTWALS PLANNING TO FINISH SEVERAL BIG HIGHWAY JOBS

Program Depends on Inclusion of District in Public Works Fund.

Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, plans to propose the completion of several large highway construction projects if the District government is included in the benefits of the $400,000,000 disbursement provided for highway improvement in the public works bill.

Among the District thoroughfares which probably would be completed would be Constitution avenue, Conduit road, the P street bridge and perhaps the Rock Creek Memorial Parkway. The District would receive a minimum of $2,000,000 under the Federal grant.

The Engineer Commissioner is also giving consideration to public works which might be promoted under the proposed Federal aid plan. Among the building projects already authorized by Congress, and which might be carried forward with this financial aid, are:

The Taft High School, the Jefferson and the Anacostia Junior High Schools, the Contagious Disease Ward at Gallinger Hospital, and the first unit of the Municipal Center.

It is not likely, however, that the Municipal Center will be started at this time as it would prove a serious drain on District budgets for the next several years.

2 Changes in Hucksters' Regulations Impending

Two requests for changes in the District regulations governing hucksters await action by the new Commissioners. Yesterday two protests against the ban against Sunday sales on the public highways were transmitted via Maj. Ern
